WORLD BANK CLEARS $500 MN TO SUPPORT MSMEs IN INDIA

The multilateral development bank said it will support Indian government's efforts to revitalise the Covid-hit MSME sector

PROVIDING WORKING CAPITAL FOR SMALL BIZ

The $500-million Raising and Accelerating Micro, Small and Medium Enterprise Performance (RAMP) will provide better access to finance and working capital for MSMEs by strengthening the receivable financing markets. It will also scale up online dispute resolution mechanisms to address the problem of delayed payments, the World Bank said

'MSMEs ARE INDIAN ECONOMY's BACKBONE'

- "The MSME sector, a critical backbone of India's economy, has been hard hit by the Covid-19 pandemic," said Junaid Ahmad, World Bank Country Director in India
- He added that the RAMP programme will support MSMEs firms to return to pre-crisis production and employment levels

CENTRE BLINKS, 'ARBITRARY & IRRATIONAL' VAX POLICY NIXED

Differential pricing for states chucked; govt to procure for 18+ too; new policy from June 21

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

MAKING a sharp course correction after widespread criticism, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday announced that the Centre will take full responsibility for free vaccinations across all age groups. Private hospitals, however, can continue procuring 25% of the manufactured vaccines and levy a maximum of ₹150 extra as service charge for administering the jab.

The rollout of the policy rollback will begin on June 21. Modi also announced the extension of the PM Garib Kalyan Ann Yojna scheme till Deepavali, November 4, for 80 crore of the population to avail free foodgrains.

In his address to the nation, Modi sought to put the earlier policy in place since May 1 in context, saying the decision to ask states to procure doses for the 18+ was taken in line with their demand that they be given greater flexibility. "From June 21, Monday, the Centre will provide vaccines for all citizens above the age of 18 years free of cost. The Centre will procure 75% of the vaccines manufactured and give them free to the states. No state in the country will have to bear any cost."

Modi added that the Centre and the states will work out the modalities of the rollout in the next two weeks. He also entrusted the states with the task of ensuring that private hospitals charge only ₹150 as service charge for vaccinations.

The reverting to the pre-May 1 vaccination procurement policy came in the backdrop of a number of chief ministers appealing the Centre to take full responsibility for the procurement besides the Supreme Court taking a hard look at the the policy formulation.

Modi sought to project that the Centre is in full control of the situation to deal with the ongoing pandemic. Exuding confidence that India will be able to scale up vaccinations, Modi stated that seven vaccine candidates are at the trial stage, including three in advanced stages, while work is in progress for a nasal vaccine. He informed that trials of two vaccines are on at a fast pace for children amid the scientific community expressing concerns about them being vulnerable in the third wave.

BALLPARK FISCAL COST OF FREE VACCINES

Estimated total number of adults	94 cr
Total number of doses required @ two doses/person	188 cr
Doses administered as on 6 June	23.3 cr
Total additional doses required	164.7 cr
Cost of additonal doses at average ₹150/dose	₹24,705 cr
75% cost to be borne by the Centre	₹18,528.75 cr

Total additional cost for the Centre

₹18,529 crore

Note: We have assumed ` 150 per dose as Centre's cost. This is excluding the logistics cost the Centre could incur

SC'S SHARP POSERS & OBSERVATIONS

- Why don't you procure vaccines also for the states?
- Dual pricing and procurement policy prima facie discriminatory
- Why can't Centre pay from ₹35,000 crore budgetary allocation for procurement for the 18+?
- Universal vaccination, including for all 18+, is Centre' primary responsibility
- Submit files on how the policy was conceived, including file notings

PM blames it on states, Opposition faults govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Monday sought to point fingers at states that suggested decentralisation of the rollout, to deflect blame for framing the widely criticised Covid vaccination policy that came into effect on May 1.

"The Centre had been running the vaccination since January 16, and the people were following all the protocol to get the jabs. But some of the states began demanding decentralisation, while there were questions about the age groups and the priority categories. Varied kinds of pressure tactics were employed, including questions about initial vaccinations of senior citizens," he said. A similar line of argument earlier came from NITI Aayog member V K Paul, who had squarely blamed the states for messing up the campaign.

But CPI(M) general secretary Sitaram Yechury criticised the PM's reasoning. "The Centre and the BJP must learn to accept responsibility for its failures when people of this country have paid with their lives. This incessant focus on spin and PR is an assault on and insult to the millions who perished in the pandemic," he said. Yechury attributed the latest policy shift to pressure from the Supreme Court's observations.

Opposition ruled states broadly welcomed the PM's decision. Tamil Nadu CM M K Stalin said "as the Prime Minister stressed multiple times that health is a state subject, it will be appropriate for each state to be given complete control over registration, validation and administration procedures." Petrol 100 not out, diesel crosses 90

PETROL prices in several districts in Karnataka breached the sensitive ₹100 per litre-mark on Monday after touching a record high in several states including Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra and Andhra Pradesh. At Sirsi in Uttara Kannada district, fuel prices were perhaps the highest in the state with petrol at ₹103.51 and diesel at ₹93.21 per litre.

In Bengaluru, fuel prices rose by 29 paise, but remained below the ₹100-mark, at ₹98.49 for petrol and ₹91.41 per litre of diesel. Balaji Rao, president of Bengaluru Petroleum Dealers' Association told TNIE that in another 10 days, the price will cross ₹100 per litre in Bengaluru too.

He explained that there are multiple reasons for the fuel hike including the lockdown, the rise in dollar price and also the dip in the economy, in which fuel sales is a large contributor. Earlier, India purchased some of the fuel from Iran in rupees. Now, with the Iran issue, the cost has escalated and also because India is buying in dollars from other OPEC countries, he said.

"Since there is a lockdown and movement is less, the rising fuel cost has had little impact so far. It will hit hard when the lockdown is lifted and movement to offices becomes regular. The rise in cost of other items along with fuel cost will have a major impact on the monthly home budgets," said Pradeep K, a factory manager, who is working from home in Bengaluru. For those in the districts, who are already badly hit by the pandemic and the lockdown, the spiralling fuel price is burning a deep hole in their pockets. Though their physical movement outside is restricted, the petrol and diesel prices will have a cascading effect on the prices of essential commodities. CONTINUED ON: P5

Hold Class 12 practicals in online mode, says CBSE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) on Monday asked all schools affiliated with it to complete internal assessments by June-end and conduct practical examinations for Class 12 students online.

The directive comes a week after the Centre, following a high-level meeting chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, decided to cancel the board examination this year in view of the pandemic.

Nearly 12 lakh students had registered for the examinations, traditionally held in the month of March every year.

The government has said students will be evaluated instead through a "well-defined" and "time-bound" criteria for an assessment plan, which is now being drafted and will include internal assessment among others. CBSE sources said many schools had approached it saying carrying out internal assessments was proving to be difficult as conducting practicals was a problem due to the Covid situation.

"Schools with pending internal assessment and practicals should complete them through online mode and submit to the board by 28 June," read the CBSE circular. The earlier deadline for uploading marks was June 11. The latest order gives schools extension for conducting practical work while underlining that no further extension will be given. Schools have also been asked to strictly adhere to Covid protocols while conducting the assessments.

BBMP: 30L people to be vaccinated in 30 days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE State Government has set a target of vaccinating 30 lakh people in 30 days in Bengaluru. Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said they will vaccinate people on a war footing to prevent the third wave.

According to BBMP data, in the last five months, 34,68,463 doses have been administered in the city. Of them, 28,54,671 people have been administered the first dose and 6,13,792 the second dose. In the last one week, 4,15,282 vaccines have been administered in private hospitals and 1,67,161 in government hospitals.

Also, of the 25 lakh people above 45 years, 15.43 lakh (60 per cent) have taken the first dose. Also of the 64 lakh people in the above 18 years age group, nine lakh (13 per cent) have taken the first dose.

Gupta said, "It is a collective target, comprising government and private centres and NGOs. To reach the target, the voters list is being used to identify those who have not taken the shot and those who have taken their first dose. A door-to-door survey will also be conducted, and citizens will get a call from 1912 for information on the second dose." CONTINUED ON: P4

BSY says no to signature campaign in his support

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A day after he said he would resign from the Chief Minister's post if the BJP central leadership asked him to, BS Yediyurappa shot down a supposed signature campaign in support of him, and told his party MLAs to stop politicking and to work towards fighting the pandemic.

The trigger was a statement by chief minister's political secretary MP Renukacharya that he had collected the signatures of 65 party MLAs to support Yediyurappa's continuation as CM.

Many senior leaders of the party slammed Renukacharya, saying such campaigns would look like the party is facing factionalism. Also, many MLAs, whose signature was on the letter, denied that they had signed any such document.

Renukacharya, who was at the Chief Minister's residence on Monday morning, said, "I have the signatures of 64-65 MLAs. There is nothing to hide. A copy of the letter in Kannada will be sent to the state unit of the party, while the English version will go to party National President JP Nadda, Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah."

Union minister Pralhad Joshi, RDPR minister KS Eshwarappa and others denied that there was such a signature campaign.

"There is no campaign 'for' or 'against' Yediyurappa. Such acts have no value in BJP. Who is Renukacharya to collect signatures? Decisions in the party are taken by the central leadership and we all are loyal to the party," lashed out Eshwarappa.

Most scathing was Dharwad West MLA Arvind Bellad, whose name has been doing the rounds as probable CM candidate.

He said, "The last time signatures were collected was when MLAs hadn't received funds from Eshwarappa's RDPR ministry. Some 64-65 MLAs had signed, but the matter was written on one page and signatures were collected on another. I hope those signatures are not being misused. We will get clarity in the legislature party meeting." CONTINUED ON: P3

Sindhuri hints at a larger plot behind her removal

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

ROHINI Sindhuri, former Mysuru deputy commissioner who was shunted out on Saturday after a spat with Mysuru City Corporation Commissioner Shilpa Nag, hinted that there is more to her transfer than meets the eye.

On Monday, talking to The New Indian Express, she in a way alleged that the land mafia was behind her transfer. She said, "People are witness to everything. Such things happen everywhere and it is quite common. Officers cannot speak about all the incidents that happen. My aim was to protect government land and water bodies."

Sindhuri, who has been posted as commissioner for Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments, said, "We took up the initiative to clear encroachments around Ayyajanahundi and Keergalli Lakes. There were some issues with the survey number at Kurubarahalli which went up to the Supreme Court. We defended the case well." Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha said, "Rohini Sindhuri had eight long months to weed out land mafia and act against it. It's not right for her to comment on it now."

On her spat with Shilpa, who too has been transferred out of Mysuru, Sindhuri said she felt pity for her. "Her outburst showed desperation and insecurity. One cannot feel their mission is accomplished if an officer gets transferred. The focus should have been on fighting the pandemic," she added.

"My focus was to improve tourism in the city, but it did not happen because of Covid," she said. An RTI activist M Gangaraju too said he had demanded the DC to hasten the probe into his complaints about land irregularities involving politicians in Mysuru.

UNLOCK BENGALURU: GOVT THINKS SLOW AND STEADY IS THE BEST BET

Keen to avoid repeat of mistakes; debates opening salons, markets; dine-in services to wait

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

ARE you waiting for the unlocking to begin, so you can go back to your weekend activities? Well, do not expect to step inside a theatre or stroll through a mall. The government has decided not to open these places and will also limit weddings and fine dining in the upcoming first unlock season.

The government and officials are working overtime, only to ensure that mistakes made during Unlock-1 are not repeated. To ensure that Unlock-2 is strictly implemented and delays the onset of the third wave, while forming guidelines scientifically, the government is taking each step cautiously. Officials, experts and members of the technical advisory committee are studying models of other Indian states and countries, like USA, UK, Australia, Bangkok and Hong Kong.

Officials are holding a series of late night meetings over the past couple of days to decide what could be opened first. "We are thinking about opening parks, playground and gardens for people to walk and exercise in the first phase. Also, some offices need to be opened so that economic activities can resume and vaccination drives carried out," an official said, adding that congregations of any sort are not allowed until further notice.

Sources in the BBMP said the plan is to allow restricted activity and no congregations, so that testing and contact tracing is done easily. "We are planning to keep the numbers low, as it was observed that people never adhered to numbers. A tighter vigil is required. We are not keen on opening malls, theatres and dine-in services in restaurants immediately, as they are high-risk places. Many cases were reported from such spaces and some had also become super spreaders. Opening of salons is still being debated, though some say it is required. The idea of opening markets on alternate days is also being debated as large crowds are a worry," a BBMP source said.

Experts, however, suggest that the government should not announce an unlock from June 14, but gradually open one sector at a time. They suggest that the government buys more time to prepare for the third wave so that it can be handled better.

It's back to Bengaluru for many as cases start to dip

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH the Covid-19 case load reducing, people who had left Bengaluru earlier for their hometowns in other states like Kerala, Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Jharkhand, and also to districts and villages within Karnataka, are now slowly returning to the city.

Meghana, who left for Kerala towards the end of April due to the surge in Covid-19 cases in Bengaluru, returned last week. "When the daily cases in Bengaluru hit 27,000, I decided it would be safer to take a bus home than stay here. I was worried about not getting a hospital bed or oxygen if I needed it. I had been watching the numbers and now that the cases and positivity rate are decreasing, I decided to come back. I have also got the first shot of the vaccine here. I am still very wary about going out, but I needed to be back for some urgent work," she said.

Twenty-nine-year-old Rehan Ali (name changed), a business development manager who hails from Tumakuru, returned to Bengaluru on Saturday morning. "When Karnataka was deciding on a lockdown, I moved back to Tumakuru so that I don't get stuck here. My company gave us permission to work from home. However, as the cases have come down and as the lockdown might be lifted in the city, the company has asked us to head back to the city to start work from the office again. It also looks safer to travel now as the cases have reduced significantly," he said.

Some others are looking for ways to return to the state capital amidst the lockdown. The number of people returning is expected to rise once the lockdown is lifted. Offices are expected to reopen by June-end or early July and that may prompt employees to return.

Rukshar Parween, native of Jharkhand who works in Bengaluru, left the city before the lockdown, owing to rising COVID-19 cases. "My office provided work from home, but now I am trying to return as cases are reducing. I am looking for flights to get back," said Rukshar, a testing engineer.

Mohamed Fahad, a language specialist at Google, returned to Kalaburagi because of the pandemic. Though he is apprehensive about getting back to Bengaluru, he has to return for official purposes. "We cannot stay home forever and have to return at some point, irrespective of the Covid-19 situation. I intend to return around June 14," he said.

Metro Phase 2A, 2B get nod from Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO the relief of the state government, the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs, Urban Transport Division on Monday approved the Bengaluru Metro Rail Project Phase 2A and 2B from Central Silk Board Junction to International Airport via Hebbal Junction.

The order also said that the project will be completed within five years. "The project will be done in two phases. Phase 2A will be from CSB TO KR Puram and the total length will be 19.75 km and Phase 2B from KR Puram to airport will be 38.44 km. The central government will contribute to the project."

The length of the project is 58.19 km and the total project will cost Rs 14,788.101 crore, said the officials from Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL).

The officials said that the project involves integration with other urban transport systems in an efficient and effective manner, which will streamline the city's urban transportation system.

Officials from urban development department said that they will now have a detailed discussion on how the metro works should be handled on Hebbal flyover, whether the flyover should be dismantled or do new plans need to be worked out.

There was mixed response from citizens for the project and the approval. While some said it was much needed to reduce traffic congestion, others expressed apprehension if the project will be completed even by 2028. Some others wondered what will happen to the airport train service which was introduced by south western railways to Baiyappanahalli and their suggestion to amplify ridership.

Panel to study danger posed by transformers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A Coordination Committee comprising officials of Bescom and BBMP has been constituted to check whether the transformers installed on the city's footpaths pose any danger to public.

Bescom has filed a statement to that effect before the High Court, complying with the direction issued in relation to a PIL filed by Wing Commander GB Athri (retd).

On the last date of hearing, the court had cautioned that if proper steps are not taken by both the authorities for setting up the coordination committee, the court will have to consider appointing an independent agency to examine the danger posed by the transformers.

In response to this, Bescom filed the statement before a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Suraj Govindaraj, stating that the committee has been constituted. The officers of BBMP and Bescom have been directed to inspect the transformers which are already installed in the eight zones of the BBMP, and prepare a report.

EAST LALBAGH TO OPEN SOON

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FOREST and Kannada and Culture Minister Aravind Limbavali on Monday announced that East Lalbagh in Kannamangala, Mahadevapura constituency, will open to the public soon.

He told the media, "Construction work is almost complete at the 70-acre park, which houses over 2,120 plant species. It will also house extinct plant species from surrounding villages for conservation and to increase biodiversity. Citizens will be able to utilise the park for walking, jogging and relaxation. It will also help researchers, students and enthusiasts as an institute of biodiversity."

He added that this is the second botanical garden after Lalbagh, in Bengaluru. It will have toilets, drinking water facility and irrigation facility for the plants. The government had granted Rs 5.50 crore for the project.

It may be recalled that the state government had earlier announced the formation of four botanical parks in the four corners of the city, on the lines of Lalbagh. The aim was to increase lung space and add to green cover. This is the first of the parks to be set up.

Maneka Gandhi appreciates Limbavali

BJP minister Maneka Gandhi on Monday wrote a letter to Limbavali, appreciating his stand in releasing Kusha, the elephant from Dubare camp, into the wild. She said the decision will have a positive impact on wildlife conservation and that she would support the state in all protection efforts.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

08th June: You might have heard that we are discovering more and more planets out there, just like our own Earth. The big question is whether there are people on them, just like us? And how like us would they be? Would they have religions like ours? Would they be peace-loving - or not? One day we will find out, although perhaps not in our life-times.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Both Mercury and Venus are challenging your emotional preconceptions, so a partner may be engaging in a spot of self-indulgent and wilful opposition to your plans. Your best policy is to be patient and sit it out, waiting until the end of the week for a change in the planetary picture.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Hard work and confusion are mixed together in equal measure. It's lunar patterns which are responsible for making you a little headstrong. And it's not that you are about to do the wrong thing, but you may be stirred by your feelings, rather than by the facts.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You must realise that for far too long you have allowed other people to dominate the emotional atmosphere, especially at work. Now you have a choice as to whether to keep your head down and avoid trouble, or face the issues head-on. Take your time, especially if there's a great deal riding on your decision.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Life, as they say, is a game of give and take. Don't be deceived into imagining that you can get away with everything that you want, but look at what you can do for partners. It's important to understand that other people may offer you their agreement, but then do something else!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The chances for misunderstandings are now at a peak. This is all very well if there's nothing important to decide, but if crucial matters are hanging on your every word, be sure that others comprehend exactly what you are trying to say. That way they'll share the responsibility if your plans don't work out.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Financially speaking, there now seems to be a light at the end of the tunnel; all it takes is confidence and a willingness to put yourself on the line. Seek extra information, but be discreet. You may even be lured into a spot of gossip, but don't do someone down behind their back.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
This should be a time when you come into your own. But life is rarely so simple. It's because partners admire you that they could be urging you to rearrange your affairs and take up activities you'd rather leave well alone. Make sure you're not left high and dry though, while other people walk away.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You may dig as deep as you like where emotional matters are concerned. There could be skeletons rattling in cupboards, but that's no reason to stand back and avoid facing what you know to be true. The question, though, is what you actually do about it. For that you need to consult wiser heads.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Everyone is liable to suffer misunderstandings, but you in particular will discover that confusion centres around money. It goes without saying that you should watch out that you're not short-changed. The last thing you want now is for someone to make a mug of you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Today's world favours poets, story-tellers and everyone with imagination. There therefore seems to be little point in expecting anyone, especially those in authority, to see the facts as you do. Perhaps you should concentrate on creating a good impression.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You have a fresh chance to put your dreams into action, but first of all you need to know what they are. Otherwise you'll follow blind alleys and cul-de-sacs. Yet even these, pointless as they might seem at first sight, will help you clarify your options.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
If professional plans are about to be finalized, you can probably wait until tomorrow or the day after. This is a day for imaginative schemes, especially if you have ever dreamt of travelling around the world or otherwise expanding your consciousness.

Days after Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa announced Rs 3,000 financial assistance for staff of 'C' category temples under the Muzrai Department and registered mosques under the Wakf Board, the Minority Welfare Department has issued orders to this effect. About 3,098 staffers working for 10,193 registered mosques and 1,572 registered madrasas will be paid Rs 3,000 as one-time assistance at a cost of Rs 7.04 crore

Focus on Covid fight: BSY to MLAs

RENUKACHARYA responded, "Why would I antagonise the man who is declaring himself as the next chief minister? The letter for RDPR funds was submitted to the chief minister long back. The signatures I have now are to pledge support and loyalty to Yediyurappa. It is not a sign of rebellion."

Meanwhile the CM tweeted, "At a time COVID19 pandemic has brought miseries to people making them suffer, every BJP MLA should return to their respective constituencies and prioritise managing the pandemic and helping people. It is my request that nobody should indulge in signature campaigns or make political statements and instead focus on helping people," Yediyurappa said in a tweet.

Under fire, Yogeeshwara keeps mum

There is speculation that he may have been reprimanded by the party for his remarks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TOURISM Minister CP Yogeeshwara on Monday refused to respond to Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa's recent statement that he would continue in office as long as the central leadership reposes faith in him.

Yogeeshwara, who had been severely criticised by his own ministerial colleagues and party MLAs for his statements against the Chief Minister, refused to comment. He had been demanding the convening of a legislature party meeting and also indirectly hinted that Yediyurappa's son BY Vijayendra was interfering in political affairs.

On Monday, Yogeeshwara was seen in his chamber on the third floor of Vidhana Soudha, and when mobbed by the media for a reaction, a stoic Yogeeshwara gave a knowing smile and said, "I will share my pain in the party forum."

In spite of the media quizzing him repeatedly, he refused to comment, leading to speculation that he may have been so severely reprimanded by the party that he dared not cross the forbidden line again. Political analysts said it is not that he has no comment to make, but probably risks losing much if he does so. Yogeeshwara did not even respond to CM's political secretary MP Renukacharya's comment that "after losing elections, he (Yogeeshwara) had resorted to begging to gain this position as minister".

Asked to respond to KPCC President DK Shivakumar's statement about him going from one mutt to another, holding a laptop, he said, "We know the CD culture belongs to DK Shivakumar. Everyone knows about the Ramesh Jarkiholi CD episode."

He was responding to the insinuation that holding a laptop meant he had some 'concealed' material he wanted to share privately. "DK Shivakumar is my political rival, but it is good if Shivakumar takes an ordinary membership of BJP," he added sarcastically.

CM hurt by comments, so spoke of quitting, reason ministers

Belagavi; Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa is hurt by statements on a change in leadership, which is why he spoke about resigning, Agriculture Minister BC Patil said on Monday. "Yediyurappa will continue as Chief Minister and we will face the next elections under his leadership," he said, adding, "he might have spoken about resigning as he is feeling bad," the minister said. "Yediyurappa will continue to be CM and no one can replace him till his tenure is complete," Deputy CM Laxman Savadi said.

1.7K govt staff died of Covid, kin to get ₹ 30L

@ Bengaluru

AT least 1,700 State government employees succumbed to Covid-19 since the beginning of the pandemic last year. Of these, 1,100 employees died during the second wave of the pandemic since April 2021.

According to Karnataka State Government Employees' Association president CS Shadakshari, employees belonging to the education, health and police departments were the worst-hit by Covid-19. Close to 60 per cent of the employees have been given at least one dose of vaccine.

The state has 72 departments and the government employs 5.3 lakh people, while the sanctioned permanent posts are 7.7 lakh. There are also 1.5 lakh contract employees, Shadakshari told TNIE. According to N Manjunatha Prasad, Principal Secretary, revenue department, the government has offered Rs 30 lakh ex-gratia to the kin of government employees who died due to Covid-19, and jobs to dependents. However, B Guruswamy, president of the Karnataka Secretariat Employees' Association, said Rs 30 lakh was a meagre amount, and demanded Rs 1 crore as compensation.

He said employees working in Vidhana Soudha, Vikasa Soudha and MS Building died due to Covid-19 in the past few months. Sources in the CMO said the government was struggling to manage finances as it was not getting enough money through taxes. "Though we are managing to pay compensation, there are delays which will soon be rectified," said an official.

Cong hails new vax policy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ BENGALURU

OPPOSITION Congress leaders welcomed the Centre's decision on centralised procurement of the Covid-19 vaccine, and thanked the Supreme Court for forcing the government to see reason.

"Better late than never. The central government's decision to take responsibility for vaccine procurement is welcome. Thanks to the Supreme Court which forced the central govt to see reason. Karnataka government needs to focus on equitable distribution of vaccines," State Congress president DK Shivakumar stated.

Hitting out at the Centre's vaccine policy, the Congress leader said the country is still figuring out its vaccination strategy. "If only BJP had listened to Rahul Gandhi, we could have saved lakhs of lives in the second wave. India needs to vaccinate 1 crore people a day to defeat the third wave," he added.

"The Prime Minister announced free vaccination to all citizens above the age of 18 years. Thanks to the Honourable Supreme Court," Senior Congress leader and former Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said, referring to the SC observation on the Centre's vaccine policy.

Earlier in the day, senior Congress leaders, including Shivakumar, held a meeting with heads of the party's frontal wings, including Kisan Congress, INTUC, Youth Congress, Mahila Congress and students wing NSUI, to mobilise and expand the party's free vaccination drive in the state.

New policy will give vax drive a push, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

CHIEF MINISTER BS Yediyurappa said the centralised procurement of vaccines, announced by PM Narendra Modi on Monday, will further accelerate the vaccination drive in Karnataka.

"As our nation combats this pandemic, PM Narendra Modi announces two more key decisions. Centralised procurement will further accelerate vaccination and provision of free foodgrains to 80 crore people will ensure food security for the poor," the CM said. Welcoming the PM's announcement on free vaccine to all citizens above 18 years of age from June 21, the CM termed it a major step in the fight against the pandemic.

House built on govt land? You could still regularise it

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IN a move that will bring cheer to low-income families that have constructed houses on government lands in urban and rural areas, prior to January 1, 2015, the government has extended the last date for receiving applications to regularise such houses.

Earlier, the last date for receiving applications to regularise houses constructed on government lands before January 1, 2015, under the Karnataka Land Revenue Act, 1964, was March 31, 2019, and it was extended to March 31, 2022.

Revenue Minister R Ashoka said that after receiving applications and verification of documents, the record of rights will be distributed by March 31, 2023. The beneficiaries are low-income families living on government land.

The government has also made provision to receive applications for regularising of lands cultivated by landless farmers and small farmers prior to January 1, 2005. The revenue department has provided an option to regularise illegal cultivation of government land by landless and marginal farmers prior to January 1, 2005, under the Karnataka Land Revenue Act, 1964 section 94-A (4). The revenue department has issued notification for uploading data received in pro forma 57 for regularising illegal cultivation on government land.

High active cases in rural areas still worrisome

Several dists see more cases in hinterland compared to urban areas

IFFATH FATHIMA @ Bengaluru

WHILE Bengaluru Urban district continues to have the highest Covid-19 active case load in the state, rural areas in many other districts are reporting a high number of active cases compared to the urban areas.

According to the Covid-19 State War Room data, districts like Hassan, Tumakuru, Belagavi and Dakshina Kannada are seeing a high number of active cases in rural areas in the last 14 days compared to the urban areas in those districts.

According to the data, Tumakuru has 8,336 active cases in rural areas compared to 2,087 urban cases. Similarly, 7,567 active cases were reported in Hassan rural, compared to 2,452 in urban areas, while Belagavi reported 5,421 active cases in rural areas. Other districts like Dakshina Kannada, Chikkamagaluru, Chamarajanagar, Chikkballapur, Udupi and Uttara Kannada too are seeing a similar trend. However, districts like Dharwad, Ballari and Mysuru are reporting more active cases in the urban areas.

Hassan District Health Officer Dr Satish Kumar told The New Indian Express that most of the cases in rural areas are those who returned from Bengaluru due to the lockdown.

"As the cases started to increase, students and others working in Bengaluru returned to their villages in Hassan. However, they were not traced as the focus then was on urban areas. By the time they developed symptoms and tested positive, their family members had already got infected, contributing to more cases. We set up 70 teams to conduct door-to-door surveys and identify, trace and isolate the patients. Those who had mild infection were moved to Covid Care Centres (CCC). Meanwhile, we also alerted the village panchayat task forces, who, along with their teams, visited villages, conducted tests and monitored Covid-positive patients. Over 1,500-odd villages still have active cases. However, it is slowly declining."

An official from Belagavi pointed out that it is difficult to convince people to get admitted in CCCs as they prefer home isolation. "The guidelines clearly state that those infected in rural areas should be moved to CCCs. However, in the initial days, not many adhered to the rule. But now, the situation is improving," the official said.

Meanwhile, Tumakuru District Health Officer Dr M B Nagendrappa said that the cases are declining in the district. "We used to see over 2,000 cases each day. However, the number has now fallen to 400. Cases are decreasing even in rural areas. We have increased testing to over 8,000 people each day," he said.

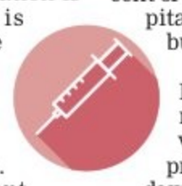
Pvt sector for transparency in vax supply

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

WHILE most of the major private hospitals in the state have welcomed the announcement by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on procurement and distribution of vaccines, they have, however, said that the service charge of Rs 150 is less. Also, the Private Hospitals and Nursing Homes Association (PHANA) and biotech major Biocon have called for more transparency in allocation of vaccines to the states.

Kiran Mazumdar Shaw, Executive Chairperson, Biocon, who has been advocating that the Central Government should have had two prices — one for the government and one for private institutions — welcomed the move to centralise procurement, but said that transparency in allocation is very important. "It is good to see that the Centre has decided to centralise procurement and provide vaccines free of cost to all state governments. However, it is important to maintain transparency in the allocation, supply and scheduling of vaccines to the states. I hope the states are prioritised on the basis of case load, test positivity rates and mortality rates," she said.



However, Dr H M Prasanna, president of PHANA, pointed out, "Only a few hospitals with money and influence have got the vaccines. Nearly 90 per cent of small and medium hospitals have not been able to buy vaccines directly."

Meanwhile, Fortis Healthcare, in a statement, urged that the vaccine prices for the private sector be reviewed downwards to enable expansion of access. The group said the government should consider a higher charge for off-site vaccination camps to enable expanded coverage. "We have taken several initiatives to make vaccination available at residential areas and workplaces, providing ease and convenience to senior citizens and corporate employees. Unfortunately, the cap on service charge at Rs 150 will not cover the additional costs incurred for such off-site vaccination camps which involve substantial costs like ambulance, transport, extra staff and doctor, plus TDS involved in many cases," the statement said.

Agreeing that central procurement of the vaccine will strengthen the drive, Dr Sudarshan Ballal, Chairman, Manipal Hospitals, said the Centre will have a lot more clout in dealing with the multinationals and in procurement of vaccines from others.

BBMP setting up centres to vaccinate construction workers

"THE target will be met based on the availability of the vaccine. We need 27 lakh doses. This was decided at a late night meeting on Sunday," Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said.

The stocks available till Monday morning were 53,400 doses of Covaxin, 25,140 doses of Covishield for 18-44 years age group and 45,860 Covishield doses for 45 years and above.

Gupta said that as apartment complexes, IT companies, industries and other commercial establishments are partnering with private firms for vaccination, many NGOs and donors are partnering with the government to vaccinate people in slums and those coming under the BPL category.

BBMP is setting up centres to vaccinate construction workers and later, film fraternity would be vaccinated.

He said that children are prone to the third wave because those aged between 12- 18 are not being vaccinated. The target is to vaccinate all those above the age of 18 as they can be better protected.

Meanwhile, a committee headed by Narayana Hrudayalaya Chairman Dr Devi Shetty is also holding discussions to set up paediatric ICUs at all government and private hospitals. The government is also working with all large hospitals for setting up oxygen plants in their units to meet demand. They will be ready in two months.

Meanwhile, members of Citizens for Citizens and Vasantha Nagar Resident Welfare Association on Monday organised a vaccination camp for those above 18 years of age.

3RD WAVE FIGHT

State to pump in ₹1.5K cr to ramp up health infra

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE State Government has now set a deadline of three months to ensure that 149 taluk and 19 district hospitals in Karnataka are upgraded and provided with maximum special health services. Deputy Chief Minister and State Covid-19 Task Force head Dr C N Ashwath Narayan told reporters on Monday that the state will be spending Rs 1,500 crore to ramp up health infrastructure to face a possible third wave of Covid-19. He spoke to the media after meeting the members of the Technical Advisory Committee.

"Of the estimated Rs 1,500 crore, Rs 800 crore will be spent on infrastructure, and the remaining towards salary expenses which will be recurring every year," he said. Acknowledging the importance of genome sequencing labs, he said the state will set up seven such labs. He said Rs 20 crore will be spent to establish 10 more hospitals (five district hospitals and five medical college hospitals) to treat black fungus. He also said that 4,000 doctors and 2-3 nurses for each doctor will be appointed. Diagnostic facilities will also be augmented across the state, he said, adding that each district hospital will have a minimum of 100 oxygenated beds (25 ICU beds with ventilators, 25 HDU beds and 50 normal oxygenated beds) and each taluk hospital will have a minimum of 25 oxygenated beds.

Meanwhile, 5,000 people who have met the criteria listed under the National Skill Commission for Covid management support will be trained, he said. Triaging centres will remain operational till people get at least one dose of vaccine, he added.

"With regard to augmenting health facilities in BBMP limits, finding the required land is the big task... The BBMP Chief Commissioner has been asked to find suitable land within two weeks," the DyCM said.

Other Key Decisions

- To keep buffer stock of 5 lakh vials of Remdesivir
- To procure drugs for treating black fungus
- Integrated app linked with war rooms to monitor entire state's Covid management with seamless information flow
- To oxygenate 7,300 beds in medical college hospitals within 3 months
- Medical college hospitals should have 20KL oxygen storage capacity
- Approval to purchase CT scanners for Shivamogga and Bidar

Mysuru varsity designs new rapid Covid detection kit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

CLOSE on the heels of false negative reports emerging while testing Covid-suspected patients, scientists from the University of Mysore have designed a kit to detect all the mutated variants rapidly.

Revealing about this new design here on Monday, Prof KS Rangappa, distinguished professor and former vice-chancellor of the university, said that this new kit has been designed by scientists of the varsity in association with Lorven Biologics Pvt Ltd, Hyderabad.

Stating that existing rapid detection methods offered accuracy of detection from 60-90% and RT-PCR test was widely used as a confirmatory test during the first wave, he said it was unfortunate that up to 40% of the patients were diagnosed as Covid negative that is false negative.

"So, the need of the hour was to have a new kit that can detect all the mutated variants of Covid rapidly. So, we have come out with this kit which will be able to detect the virus in the subsequent waves," said Prof Rangappa, who headed the team.

The scientists said the nucleoplasmic protein of coronavirus was cloned and expressed in a suitable system, thereafter antibodies are raised against nucleoplasmic protein. Gold nanoparticle-based ICG strip was developed using purified antibodies for detection of Covid from suspected samples, they said. Prof Rangappa said the unique feature of the kit is that it is provided with a barcode stripe connected with an app. "As soon as the barcode is scanned, a patient's health status, positive or negative, is updated in the server enabling the governing agency to monitor positive cases rapidly," he said.

The scientists further said the kit is expected to be of low cost and will be sent to the Indian Council for Medical Research (ICMR) for emergency approval. Prof Rangappa also revealed that they are also attempting to formulate a drug for Covid in association with the Indian Institute of Chemical Technology (IICT, Hyderabad) and Central Drug Research Institute (CDRI, Lucknow).

FIR filed against Kerala BJP prez for poll bribery

More names and serious charges of abduction, illegal confinement, criminal intimidation will be added later, say police

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kasaragod

BADIADKA police registered an FIR against BJP state president K Surendran for allegedly bribing namesake K Sundara to pull out of the assembly elections in Manjeshwar.

The FIR was registered on the direction of Kasaragod Judicial First Class Magistrate Court II on a petition filed by CPM district committee member and LDF candidate in Manjeshwar V V Rameshan.

"We moved the court demanding a police investigation into Sundara's statement that he was bribed to withdraw from the elections," said advocate C Shukkur, who represented Rameshan in the court.

Shukkur said the petition named only Surendran as accused. "It's up to the police to find out the others involved in the case," he said.

Sundara, who was fielded by the Bahujan Samaj Party, told the media and then the Badiadka police that BJP activists abducted and illegally detained him, and forced him to withdraw his nomination papers. He also said he was given ₹2.5 lakh and a Chinese smartphone worth ₹15,000 by Surendran's close aide Sunil Naik, BJP's Manjeshwar constituency secretary Suresh Naik and BJP member Ashok Shetty after he pulled out.

The court directed the police to register the FIR against Surendran for election bribery (Section 171 B of the IPC), but Kasaragod Deputy Superintendent of Police P P Sadanandan said based on the statement made by Sundara, more sections and accused will be added.

Sunil, Suresh and Shetty will also be added to the FIR and booked for illegal gratification, abduction, illegal detention and criminal intimidation, he said.

Of these charges, Section 365 of the IPC that deals with abduction with the intention to illegally confine a person attracts imprisonment of up to seven years and is a non-bailable offence, Sadanandan said. The FIR is the 249th criminal case against Surendran.

In the 2016 assembly elections, Sundara got 467 votes and Surendran lost by 89 votes. In 2021, Surendran lost by 745 votes. Another namesake, Surendran M, got 197 votes.

ISRO develops 3 types of ventilators

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Indian Space Research Organisation has developed three types of ventilators, and has called for technology transfer to produce it industrially. The prototypes are in Vikram Sarabhai Space Centre (VSSC), in Thiruvananthapuram.

The onus of obtaining mandatory certification from approving agencies of the Indian government, before clinical usage, lies with the industry.

The first type Prana (Programmable Respiratory Assistance for the Needy Aid) is a low-cost and portable critical care ventilator. The second is an ICU-grade positive pressure mechanical ventilator titled 'VaU' (Ventilation assist Unit), and third, Svasta (Space Ventilator Aided System for Trauma Assistance) is a gas-powered ventilator.

While Prana and VaU are designed to operate in both invasive and non-invasive ventilation modes, Svasta is a basic mode for non-invasive ventilation, and can be used even as transit ventilators inside vehicles. Prana is based on automated compression of an Artificial Manual Breathing unit bag. VaU , based on a centrifugal blower, uses ambient air.

ISRO, in their invitation to the EoI, said that PRANA has a sophisticated control system that includes airway pressure sensor, flow sensor, oxygen sensor, servo actuator as well as expiration and PEEP (Positive End Expiratory Pressure) control valves. VaU is said to have an intuitive Human Machine Interface (HMI) System, which allows operators to set and monitor multiple ventilation parameters in real time.

Svasta is capable of pressure control ventilation.

Rural schools want PUC II test marks as final result

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@Bengaluru

PRIVATE schools in rural areas of Karnataka have asked the state government to consider the PUC II mid-term and intermediary tests for evaluation of state board students in addition to the criteria set by the government. This way, more weightage is given to marks obtained at their pre-university level.

The Department of Public Instruction has decided to evaluate students based on their PUC I and SSLC examination marks, deeming it an objective criterion for grading the students.

Registered Unaided Private Schools Management Association (RUPSA) president Lokesh Talikatte said that opinions from principals and lecturers was gathered and recommendations were made based on the students' sentiments.The department has decided that only students who are discontent with the grading system can write an examination. This examination is scheduled to be held on a later date when the pandemic situation is under control, and students will write these papers alongside private candidates and repeaters.

RUPSA (Karnataka) has asked the government to give a 30 per cent weightage to SSLC marks, 50 per cent to PUC I marks and 20 per cent to PUC II marks. Talikatte said that CBSE board students have scored better grades in their Class 10 examination and this will put the state board students at a disadvantage.

Reiterating the opinions of members, Talikatte said that schools started physical classes from January to March, at least once a month, a test was held.

COMED-K TO USE CBSE CLASS 12 TRUNCATED SYLLABUS

Bengaluru: COMED-K (Consortium of Medical, Engineering and Dental Colleges of Karnataka) has decided to go with the truncated Class 12 CBSE syllabus for its examination this year in addition to the Class 11 syllabus. S Kumar, executive secretary, COMED-K, told TNIE that that was the only change made in the method of holding the examination this year. Just as every year, this year too, 33 per cent weightage will be given to the Class 11 syllabus, and two thirds to Class 12 syllabus. He said that the syllabus for the examination was notified on the website. "We too have removed the topics that the CBSE has excluded," he added. Considering the situation this year, he said that the annual online examination will be held in more cities. The previous year, the consortium had set up testing centres in 280 cities. This year, this has been increased to 320 cities, he added.

War room staffer claiming to be MP's PA sells Remdesivir in black, arrested

Bengaluru: Jayanagar police on Monday arrested a 26-year-old employee of the BBMP Covid war room for allegedly selling Remdesivir injections in black. The accused, identified as Chetan D, had claimed to be a personal assistant of Bengaluru South MP Tejasvi Surya, and was found to be cheating people. Hence, a case of impersonation and cheating has been filed against him. Following a complaint by Bhanu Prakash, a staffer at the MP's office, police examined Chetan's call records and nabbed him soon after he reported for work at the war room in Peenya on Monday. Chetan, a resident of Peenya Dasarahalli, has completed his PUC and had joined the BBMP a year ago on contract basis. ENS

HC seeks documents on 'sale' of land to Jindal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Monday sought clarification from the state government on its decision to sell 3,677 acres of land to JSW Steel Pvt Ltd and directed it to submit relevant documents in support of its decision. A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order after hearing a public interest litigation filed by KA Paul, a resident of BM Layout in the city.

The court also issued notices to the Chief Secretary, Additional Chief Secretaries of the departments of Finance, Home and Revenue, and Principal Secretaries of the departments of Law, Mines and Geology, and Forests, Environment and Ecology.

The petitioner has questioned the state government's decision to sell 3,677 acres of land to JSW in Ballari at a "meagre price" of Rs 1.22 lakh per acre.

NCB busts Kerala-based drug syndicate

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru zonal unit the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB) has busted an international drug trafficking network, which is allegedly involved in smuggling of contraband drugs from Kerala to Doha, Qatar via Bengaluru.

It has seized 3.8 kg of hashish (charas) worth Rs 25 lakh in the grey market from two people from Kerala, who were reportedly smuggling the contraband to Doha through courier.

On June 4, acting on credible input, the NCB seized 1.2 kg of hashish from a courier parcel, which was destined to Doha. "The contraband was concealed in 13 backpack bags. In a swift follow-up action, the NCB apprehended two people - R Khan and his associate S Hussain - from Bengaluru on June 6 and recovered 2.6 kg of hashish. The drug was concealed in 195 travel pouches and was meant to be trafficked to Doha by courier," said the NCB zonal director Amit Ghawate. Khan and Hussain were arrested under the Narcotic Drugs & Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act, 1985.

BIZMEN, CABBIES WORRY ABOUT FUEL PRICES; WANT GOVT TO CUT EXCISE DUTY

"THE increase of prices of petroleum products will have a direct impact on the livelihood of the common man. Hence, the government should immediately cut excise duty and ensure that fuel prices are brought down," said Sham Orekundy, an interior decorator in Davanagere. Stock and bullion trader Rohit S Jain suggested that the government bring down excise duty and issue oil bonds for the time being.

In Davanagere, petrol price rose to 100.17 from Rs 99.88 and diesel to 92.82 from Rs 92.54 on Monday. In Chitradurga, petrol price went up from Rs 99.90 to Rs 100.16 and diesel from 92.55 to 92.81. In Ballari, petrol price was at Rs 100.08 per litre.

Thimmanna, who sells fried foods on his two-wheeler in Davanagere, said, "I have no choice but to increase the price of my items, which people might not accept. If I have to survive, the prices have to be increased."

D S Sagar who owns an IOC fuel station in Davangere, said pump owners too are facing the heat. "Our working capital and bank credit will also become less with every passing day as we have to pay more to procure petroleum products. Also, variable costs for transportation, workers' salaries have increased," he pointed out.

In Karwar, petrol price touched Rs 100.17 and diesel was being sold at Rs 92.91 per litre. Though there are not many vehicles on the roads, locals say the price hike is too much. "We have to think twice before taking our vehicles out. But we need to make a living and this is a very critical time," said Sandeep Sagar, a resident of Karwar. "We just don't not know how to react," said Gopal Krishna Hegde from Yellapur in Uttara Kannada district.

Vendors fear that prices of perishable commodities will increase further. "Already, we are paying a higher price for vegetables and meat. It will further increase due to hike in diesel prices," said Datta Ram, a retailer in Karwar.

Abhishek Rao, a hotelier, said, "This is nothing but "munafa khori" (profiteering). They just want to make money. The pandemic has led to a hike of about 40 per cent in our food prices. The fuel price hike will add to another 5-10 per cent increase."

On Monday, fuel prices in Hubballi-Dharwad went up by about 29 paise. While petrol is being sold at Rs 98.35, diesel now costs Rs 91.30 per litre. Already, prices of vegetable, fruits and other food items are on the rise due to restricted selling hours and short supply. Transportation costs could further push up their prices, many feel.

Shivamogga too saw the highest ever prices of fuel with petrol at Rs 99.88 and diesel Rs 92.6 per litre.Ashwini, a housewife, said it has become very difficult for common people to make both ends meet amidst the lockdown when people in many families have lost jobs. Slamming both the Central and State Governments, T Manjunath, a resident, said that it has become unmanageable to take cars out.

In Hassan, petrol price was at Rs 98.31 and diesel at 91.12 per litre on Monday. Autorickshaw and cab drivers said they are facing tough times as fuel prices are increasing, but fares have remained unchanged.

Hitting out at the government, Belagavi industrialist S N Shet said the fuel price hike and rising rate of inflation will have an adverse impact on various other sectors besides trade in essential commodities. The surge was witnessed in Belagavi too where the price of petrol rose to Rs 98.36 and diesel to Rs 91.32 per litre.

Businessman Somashekhar Khadbadi said the problems for the common man will only worsen further due to the rising inflation once the situation returns to normal. It will become even more difficult for small businesses which are on the verge of closure, he noted.

A Revenue Department employee in Kalaburagi, Vishwanath, said people are forced to fork out more for petrol despite the price rise as they cannot depend on city buses or autorickshaw all the time. On Monday, petrol was being sold in the city at Rs 98.30 and diesel at Rs. 91.20 per litre.

In Kolar, farmers said fuel price rise will have a direct impact on them. Farmers are already suffering huge losses due to the lockdown as there is no demand for their produce, said Sreenath, who owns CMR Mandi, a wholesale business. In Kolar, diesel was priced at Rs 91.37 and petrol at 98.39 per litre on Monday.

In Mysuru, petrol price rose to Rs 98.05 and diesel to Rs 91.01 per litre. "Apart from fuel, soaring vegetable prices and fruits during the lockdown have fuelled anger. Though the prices of farm produce have remained low for farmers, middlemen are making a killing while while consumers are feeling the pinch," said farmers' leader Kuruburu Shantakumar.

DEMOGRAPHIC DIVIDEND AN ALBATROSS WITHOUT GOOD SCHOOL EDU

When pandemic and vaccination dominate our minds, the education ministry's Performance Grading Index comes as a welcome distraction. Some bits are not very surprising. Tamil Nadu and Kerala do better than most, and Bihar remains at the bottom of the pile, particularly in school infrastructure, along with tribal Chhattisgarh. But Meghalaya and Nagaland do not do well, while showing slight improvement.

The real surprise is that Punjab does better than all, and is at the top of the pile—it has jumped up from a mere 769 to 929 on a score-chart of 1,000. It even outshines its own capital, the Union territory of Chandigarh, which is still not just the most well-laid-out city in India but boasts reasonably modern infrastructure on most counts. But then, Chandigarh and Tamil Nadu have outdone Kerala, which is generally the country's human index topper. Karnataka, despite its 'IT hub/start-up haven' image, languishes at Level 3, scoring no more than 813. In fact, only five states and UTs have scored more than 90%, touching Level 2. Unfortunately, none in India qualify as Level 1 in school PGI, where the parameters are governance, infrastructure/administration and learning outcomes—restricting dropouts, enhancing enrolment and mainstreaming students. Gujarat, which was the runner-up last time, has slid quite a few notches and is no longer in Level 2. Madhya Pradesh, similarly, drops down on the performance chart. The lowest score has been wangled by Ladakh, with just 545. Obviously, autonomy from J&K has not brought in the results yet. The third edition of the National Assessment of Schools tested school students from Classes III, V, VIII and X, on 70-odd indicators.

Hopefully, the scores will come as a sobering wake-up call to the laggards. Without good school education and a healthy nutritional profile to go with it—and, needless to say, an economy robust enough to absorb them—India's demographic dividend may just turn into an albatross.

VERDICT IS SURVIVOR'S WORST NIGHTMARE

There is no better example for why the #MeToo movement stands as an indictment of due process than the 527-page order of an additional sessions court judge acquitting former Tehelka editor Tarun Tejpal of the charges of rape. Tejpal was accused of raping a junior colleague in the lift of a Goa hotel in November 2013. More than seven years later, in acquitting the accused, the court's verdict reads as a sexual assault survivor's worst nightmare. First, the prosecutrix's identity—which must be protected by law—is revealed or hinted at throughout the verdict. The Bombay High Court had to direct that the details be redacted. Second, the prosecutrix's sexual history is discussed repeatedly in detail, despite courts—and Section 53A of the Indian Evidence Act—stating that it is not relevant in deciding matters of consent. Third, while the court dwells at length on many minor discrepancies between the prosecutrix's letters to her employers and friends and statements to police, it accepts at face value all the accused's claims. Fourth, the court refuses to consider the accused's informal and formal written apologies to the woman as evidence, on questionable grounds. Closer scrutiny of these communications may have led the court to the heart of the matter—consent. Fifth, the judge resorts to the worst of rape myths to decide that the woman could not have been assaulted as she did not conform to behaviour that, to the judge, was appropriate to a victim of rape. The court does point to glaring lapses in the investigation and prosecution that failed to prove the case against the accused beyond reasonable doubt. Yet, this determination comes at the end of a devastating attack on the character of the prosecutrix, whose feminist stance, education, career and even conversation with lawyers are treated as suspicious.

While the State of Goa has appealed the verdict, the judgment exemplifies why sexual assault survivors choose to remain silent rather than report the crimes. The Delhi gang rape of 2012, Criminal Law Amendment of 2013 and the #MeToo movement have significantly elevated discussions and understanding of sexual violence. Yet, even in the year 2021, the justice system and judiciary have proven how much further there is to go.

The current theme 'Incredible India' has served the nation long enough now. It has done well to date, but I am not sure it will continue to do so

TIME FOR A BRAND REJIG: A CREDIBLE INDIA AHEAD

AMIT BANDRE

India is one among a total of 195 nations in the world today. The second biggest in terms of population, a country that occupies various positions on multiple sets of global lists that measure nations on metrics of their own making.

Therefore, even as you read this, India is the sixth largest economy in terms of nominal GDP ($2.6 trillion) and the third largest in terms of purchasing power parity (PPP). And equally India ranks 139 out of 149 nations on the UN World Happiness Report 2021. Win some. Lose some.

Those who build country brands try to latch on to numbers that glaze the eye with pride. As someone who has participated in building some six country brands to date, I worry for nations that pick the anecdotal to showcase their image. Imagine the nation that positions itself as one that makes the best butter-chicken. Or a nation that says that it has the most handsome men in the world. Believe it or not, both are options that some countries have considered in their journey of 'nation branding' to date.

A nation brand is therefore an important imperative to address amidst a clutter of countries with an even bigger clutter of positioning options ahead, each vying to make it to the top rung of recognition and impact. Some therefore use the anecdotal and others the solid, in their journey to immortality and recognition. Israel is therefore "The Promised Land", and India is "Incredible India". And who is to say what is anecdotal, and what is real?

Nation branding, however, is big business today. Every nation wants to have a dominant image that will get it the attention of the rest of the world. It is B2B (business to business) in terms of country-to-country recognition, and becomes an intricate and complex B2C (business to consumer) activity, as nations begin vying for the attention of the people who live in these countries. To many a country, its image among the people who live in that country is more important than what governments of other nations think of them.

In the very early days, both the Soviet Union of yore and the US understood B2C nation branding well. In India for one, both nations had a very aggressive focus on building their brand image. Their respective consulates did yeoman work. If the US had its SPAN magazine, Russia had its Sputnik. Today, in a seamlessly connected world with its digital outreach mechanisms, you don't need a SPAN or a Sputnik anymore.

Let's look at Brand India. It is a nation for a start. A robust nation that packs in the energies of a billion, plus a third of a billion people. Brands have two aspects to concern themselves with. One is an intrinsic one. What do people within the country think of Brand India? The second is an extrinsic one: What do countries outside India think of our nation? And more importantly from today's context, what do the 6.3 billion people who live in these countries think of India? Do they think differently from what their governments want them to think of India the nation?

As I research out thoughts expressed by many a nation, both at the B2B (sample size: 23 countries) and B2C level (sample size: 23,640 people from these countries), Brand India definitely needs a rejig. It needs a refresh. A refresh that is topical, timed to a post-pandemic world, and one that is as contemporary, real and futuristic as it can get.

> As the economy of hope lies ahead, it just might be the right time for India to reposition itself correctly and strongly in the minds of the world.... 'Incredible India' is a phrase that cuts both ways, depending on the experiences of people with the nation. We need to pave the way for a powerful, reliable and 'Credible India' as opposed to an 'Incredible India'

The current theme "Incredible India" has served the nation long enough now, with its very visual emphasis on everything that is fantastic and nice in India. In many ways, India as a live phantasmagoria at play. It has done well to date, but I am not sure it will continue to serve the purpose of the nation into the immediate and distant future. My research probe tells me that the phrase does well for India Tourism, but not necessarily for Brand India.

"Incredible India" is a phrase that cuts both ways in positivity and negativity, depending on the experiences of people with the nation. I do believe we need to pave the way for a powerful, reliable, consistent and "Credible India" as opposed to an "Incredible India" as the current theme puts it.

The world is currently going through the throes of tumult that the pandemic has brought into our lives. People in every nation are going through uncertainty of every kind. Volatility is the norm, and the minds of people all across are grappling to clutch on to the rays of hope that emerge from anywhere and everywhere. Countries of every kind have gone through the phases of fear and panic. As the economy of hope emerges ahead, it just might be the right time for India to reposition itself correctly and strongly in the minds of the world at large. What the world thinks of India, and more importantly what the people who live in these many countries all across think of India is going to define our nation brand.

There are many issues to consider as we think about nation branding of India all over again. Do we want to be a "David" or a "Goliath" nation? Isn't small beautiful once again in the future, if not in the present? Do we want to be an "Insular India" or an "Open India"? A "Tech India" or a "Brick & Mortar India"? Many questions to sort.

And before I sign off, one last thought to think. Isn't it time we stopped saying "Made In India" on our products and services that find its way across the world? Time to do it the Swiss way. Why not use the "India Made" phrase all across?

"Made In India" means made in a geography that is India. It doesn't mean much. "India Made" on the other hand means made by the proud Indian with hard work, effort, and most importantly with India-passion poured into it!

THE FATE OF PERSONAL GUARANTORS UNDER IBC

KAVYA LALCHANDANI

Legal scholar based out of Delhi

The Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016, came into effect in August 2016 but for Part III of the Code that related to insolvency and bankruptcy of individuals including personal guarantors to the corporate debtor. In November 2019, the government notified that Part III of the Code would come into effect from 1 December 2019. Before this notification, there were a series of different and conflicting views by tribunals; this notification was challenged before various High Courts that led to a rather anomalous situation. It is finally in Lalit Kumar Jain v. Union of India that the Supreme Court transferred all the cases to itself in order to avoid these conflicting views and put this issue to rest finally. The court has held that the notification was valid and not ultra vires. It is important to trace the rationale and reason behind the challenges as well as the judgment of the court.

The challenges primarily rest on the fact that the said notification was in excess of authority, and not what was prescribed under Section 1(3) of the Code and that the government could not have notified certain parts relating to personal guarantors only. The reason behind the same was the proviso to the above section that enabled the government to notify the provisions in a staged manner but not specifically the parts of the provision. The proviso states that different provisions may be notified at a different date. The petitioners also highlighted the fact that under the impugned notification, there is no distinction between the procedure to be followed in terms of whether it is a financial creditor or an operational creditor, a classification that was thought necessary in case of corporate debtors. Lastly, the liability of the guarantor is always coextensive with that of the debtor as stated under Section 128 of the Indian Contract Act and it essentially would violate the rule of double dip and will lead to unjust enrichment of the creditor.

After giving due regard to the plethora of precedents on the subject matter of delegated and conditional legislations and the power of the executive in this regard, the court held that the proviso of Section 1(3) was not being violated. It disagreed with the challenges made by the petitioners primarily because of the scheme and the purpose of the Code. After analysing the dates on which the provisions came into effect, the court held that from the manner adopted by the Central government in notifying various provisions, it was clear that it was done to fulfil the purpose of the Code and for dealing with the priorities at hand. The inter-relatedness of the personal guarantors with the corporate debtor was posing difficulties in implementation of the resolution process against the corporate debtor. Precisely for this reason, the amended Section 60 of the Code contained provisions for resolution of insolvency and bankruptcy of the corporate debtor and the personal guarantor by the same forum, that is the National Company Law Tribunal.

> By holding that the implementation of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code is legal and the approval of the resolution plan does not ipso facto result in discharge of the guarantor's liability, the court has put the creditors in a comfortable position to claim the dues from personal guarantors without also simultaneously proceeding against the corporate debtor

Section 243, which contemplates the repealing of all the personal insolvency laws, has not come into force but it would not be necessary due to the presence of Section 238, which gives the Code an overriding effect over all other laws in cases of conflict as has been settled in an earlier judgment, SBI v. V Ramakrishnan. In the same judgment, the court had given enough reasons to treat personal guarantors differently from other individuals and that Section 31 of the Code gives finality to the resolution plan approved by the Committee of Creditors, which is binding on the corporate debtor and the personal guarantor. In fact the provisions relating to moratorium are also wider in case of the personal guarantors' assets. Therefore, after the resolution plan is finalised under Section 31, it does not discharge the personal guarantor of their liability as the resolution plan is a result of an involuntary process i.e., insolvency or bankruptcy of the corporate debtor, which will not result in extinguishment of the security. The court however recognised that the extent of the liability depends on the terms of the guarantee contract itself. This also clarifies the court's position on the double dip and double proof doctrines where it would allow the creditor to recover the amount due by proving against either or both the debtor and the guarantor to the extent of the amount due. Essentially, the common law rule prevents double dividend out of the same set of assets. The court, therefore, gave due regard to the principles of common law and contract while arriving at the conclusion.

By holding that the implementation of the Code is perfectly legal and the approval of the resolution plan does not ipso facto result in discharge of the guarantor's liability, the court has put the creditors in a comfortable position to claim the dues from the personal guarantors without also simultaneously proceeding against the corporate debtor. It also acts as a note of caution for the personal guarantors to prudentially and critically analyse the guarantees so given on behalf of the companies.

No decent farewell

The images of hundreds of bodies of Covid victims floating on the Ganga will haunt us for long (Clean Ganga crematoriums could have offered dignity to the dead, June 7). Be it vaccine shortage, fear of a third wave or giving a decent farewell to their loved ones, the common man is on the brink of despondency. Only ingenuity from a united India can help us overcome this rogue virus.

Biju C Mathew, Thiruvananthapuram

The need for regulations

There has been a staggering increase in the number of social media users over the last decade. These intermediaries control the content published on them through unknown algorithms. So there should be some regulation on the way they operate. It is a known fact that content published on social media platforms alters or builds opinions in the minds of many users, severely impacting the social and democratic fabric of the countries they operate in. If they are abiding by the rule of land in other countries, why not in India?

Jitesh Mathur, Hyderabad

Regional party dynasties

TMC supremo and West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee's nephew has been made the party's national general secretary. Most of the regional parties have become family properties, be it the JD(S), SP, DMK or NC. They should give importance to cadre who have been tirelessly working at the ground level.

B Sundar, Chennai

Think beyond profit

The elaborate coverage of the global situation in The Evil Empire (June 6) is commendable. It is time for leaders all over the world to think beyond profit and understand the oneness of the earth rather than dividing it based on silly geographical boundaries.

Arun B Asok, Thrissur

Havoc due to China's greed

The report has exposed China's nasty games to achieve its goals. Undoubtedly, it's behind all the chaos the world is undergoing now—millions of lives lost to the pandemic and humongous increase in unemployment. Countries should stand together against China that has wreaked havoc due to its greed.

Bijumon PN, Idukki

Learn from Madurai

The Madurai model of setting up of medical oxygen plants at the hospital site itself with financial assistance under CSR schemes (June 4) is worthy of emulation throughout India. Politicians as well as the industrial fraternity of Madurai, inspired by Tamil Nadu Finance Minister P T R Palanivel Thiagarajan, have learnt the right lessons from the second wave of Covid. May their tribe increase.

G Nataraja Perumal, Elathur, Tenkasi

Focus on medicines too

When both vaccinations and infection recoveries are providing bulk immunity, thresholds like 70% inoculation may not be operative. Even a lower jab percentage could restrict spread. The attention should now be on Covid medicines that stop serious illness.

M Balakrishnan, Bengaluru

Will create demand, jobs

This is with reference to Viewing Central Vista project the right way (June 7). The author has rightly opined that government spending on the project will create demand and jobs. Further, the project would help the government save precious money currently spent on rent.

Centre has been forced to make the move as SC came down heavily over its vaccine policy, it divides Indians in the name of states

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

India needs a Covid Vaccination Commission like ECI to finish inoculation in no time, says Dr Ashok Seth, chairman of the Fortis Escorts Heart Institute. He also says the pandemic has been a traumatic experience for doctors

INDIA needs a Covid Vaccination Commission and (if we get that) in no time, we can vaccinate 70 per cent of the population just as fast as we conduct polls, said Dr Ashok Seth, chairman, Fortis Escorts Heart Institute and the chairman of Cardiology Council, Fortis Group of Hospitals while speaking to senior journalist and Author Kaveree Bamzai at The New Indian Express' COVID Think Tank.

Dr Seth said that if India can help the entire country vote in a matter of days, it surely can vaccinate people in a few weeks. All it needs is a commission like the Election Commission of India (ECI). "If we can make 70 per cent of the population vote in a period of a few days, it takes less time to get vaccinated as compared to voting, there's less screening, there's no police protection needed and we can have a vaccination centre 500 metres from our home. If we have the 200 crore doses from August then there is no reason why we cannot vaccinate. Why can't we have a COVID Vaccination Commission of India just like the ECI? A one-stop-shop that gets the vaccines from anywhere in the world, decides the cost and figures out the logistics. it's not such a big deal," he said.

We were not trained not to be able to help people. We were like an army without any ammunition. We also saw our near and dear ones dying

Dr Ashok Seth, Fortis Escorts Heart Institute

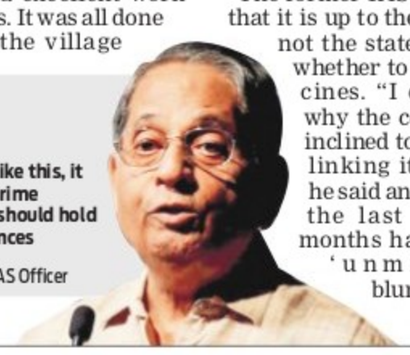
But that's the future. Till now, COVID has been a traumatic experience for the doctors and the helplessness has been eating them on the inside, said the senior cardiologist. He added there are two aspects to what the doctors have experienced. They had to keep up the demeanour to provide the patients and their relatives with hope and courage and also to encourage their juniors, while inside they were dejected.

Centre shouldn't micromanage vax jabs

CRITICISING the union government for mismanaging the COVID-19 pandemic and the health crisis in India, former Union Home Secretary Madhav Godbole says that the centre's immediate goal has to be to vaccinate people mandatorily. He was in conversation with Author and Senior Journalist Kaveree Bamzai, as part of TNIE's COVID Think Tank, on June 7.

Godbole added that the Government of India must immediately take up the responsibility of procuring vaccines and should provide them free of cost. "Vaccines must be made available free. In terms of the cost-benefit analysis, this is a much cheaper option," he said. Looking back at a time when India administered polio and smallpox vaccines successfully and eradicated the viruses, he said that the same could have been possible with COVID too, had the centre not 'micromanaged' the vaccine administration. "We did excellent work with vaccines. It was all done right up to the village level in a very systematic manner. Therefore, micromanagement by the centre is not called for. Leave it to the states. They know how their system works and the Government of India trying to manage everything from Delhi is not right," he said in a pre-recorded session.

The former IAS officer said that it is up to the centre and not the states to decide whether to import vaccines. "I don't know why the centre is not inclined to do that and linking it to states," he said and added that the last couple of months have been an 'unmitigated blunder'.



In situations like this, it must be the Prime Minister who should hold press conferences

IF India had been able to keep the infection spread at bay for another six months or so, it would have been be a massive global success story because it would have given time to ramp up vaccine manufacturing and given enough time to provide enough doses to high-risk individuals in India, said Dr Krishna Udayakumar, Founder of the Duke Global Health Innovation Centre. "Right now, there is a humanitarian crisis in India and rightly so, the domestic manufacturing is being used for domestic needs. But almost a hundred of the poorest countries getting Covaxin through the AMC model also don't get access to the vaccines as they are predominantly relying on manufacturing in India by the Serum Institute for their access. We are unfortunately seeing a disaster unfolding in India that's going to continue for weeks and in the downstream it has led to the lack of vaccines to the rest of the world," he explained while speaking on the topic Vaccine Vexation: Making a Case for Access.

Dr Udayakumar was speaking at the COVID Think Tank organised by The New Indian Express on June 7, 2021. The online event is being conducted from June 7 to 15 where eminent experts will speak on the COVID-19 crisis.

We didn't realise the urgency of the need to prepare for this well enough. It's not a unique story in India but in too many countries around the world

Dr Krishna Udayakumar

Speaking on how India and countries around the world could have prepared better for the second wave, he added, "What's happening around is heartbreaking and it is disruption that could have been avoided. But instead of feeling a sense of urgency to be prepared for what would inevitably be a second wave of infections, what we saw instead among politicians especially was complacency and a premature declaration of victory over the pandemic," he said and added that it is important to spend on health.

Chorus grows for transparent vax distribution plan

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

CALLING the new changes in the Narendra Modi government's Covid-19 vaccination policy a partial correction, experts have called for the need of clearly spelt out distribution plans based on which vaccines are to be distributed among states.

The specific formula based on which vaccines have been allocated to states, so far, have remained opaque, prompting many to speculate that politics, too, and not only the need of the state, has played a part in vaccines' delivery by the Union government.

From time to time, many state governments, mainly those ruled by opposition parties, too, have blamed the Centre for not supplying adequate Covid-19 vaccines as demanded, indicating that it has prioritised the BJP-ruled states over them. On Monday, PM Modi announced that starting June 21, all adults in the country will be entitled to receive Covid vaccines for free in government hospitals as 75 per cent of the total vaccines will be procured centrally and provided to states.

Former Union health secretary Preeti Sudan called it a "laudable" move, in response to a "rapidly changing dynamic situation." Those who have been following the Centre's Covid-19 response and vaccination policy closely said the need of the states, and requirement of vulnerable groups, instead of political whims and fancy should guide the vaccine distribution roadmap, more so as central will have control over a higher number of vaccines now.

"The new policy is an improvement from the earlier one and looks better on paper, but the plan for distributing the vaccine should be spelt out clearly and released transparently," stressed health economist Rijo M John, attached with IIM, Kozhikode.

Chances of arbitrarily distributing the vaccines will grow even more now that Centre will procure 75% of vaccines and could decide on allocations unilaterally

RIJO M JOHN, economist

He pointed out that, so far, the country does not know which state has got how many doses of the vaccines and what was the basis of supplying them. "Chances of arbitrarily distributing the vaccines will grow even more now that the Centre will directly procure 75 per cent of the vaccines and could decide on allocations unilaterally," he added.

Economist R Ramakumar, too, said the formula should be publicised.

"We will expect that along with the details of the new policy, the distribution plan and the numbers along with the criteria used to arrive at the numbers will be released at the earliest," he said. Ramakumar added that the window of opportunity provided to vaccine makers to make a profit on 25 per cent Covid-19 vaccines also needed to be rolled back.

Bengal govt cancels state board exams

Kolkata: The West Bengal government on Monday cancelled state board exams for Classes X and XII, keeping in view the feedback received from people in the past 24 hours. CM Mamata Banerjee, however, said evaluation in some form would be carried out, and a decision to that effect would be taken soon.

Varanasi airport handles 1,800 kg of vax

New Delhi: The Varanasi airport has handled the transportation of 1,800 kg of Covid vaccine, the Airports Authority of India said on Monday. "Movement of over 128 oxygen concentrators from various cities and movement of patients through charter and medical flights to major cities (was also handled at Varanasi airport)," it said.

For foreign travel, Centre reduces 2nd Covishield dose gap for certain groups

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THOSE intending to undertake international travel for education purposes, joining employment and as part of the Indian contingent to the Tokyo Olympics will be allowed to take the second dose of Covid vaccine Covishield prior to the prescribed time interval of 84 days after the first dose.

However, according to the standard operating procedures (SOPs) issued by the Health Ministry on Monday, even in these cases, the second dose will only be administered after 28 days from the date of the first dose. The Co-WIN system will soon provide the facility for the administration of the second dose in such exceptional cases, the ministry said.

It said it has received several representations for allowing the administration of the second dose of Covishield to such people who have taken the first dose and are seeking to undertake international travel for educational purposes or for employment opportunities or as part of the Indian contingent for the Tokyo Olympic Games, but whose planned travel dates fall prior to the completion of the currently mandated minimum interval of 84 days from the date of the first dose.

The Centre advised that vaccination may be availed in cases through passport which is one of the permissible ID documents as per the guidelines so that the passport number is printed in the certificate.

Second shot only after 28 days

VACCINATION PRIORITY FOR STUDENTS GOING ABROAD: PUNJAB GOVT

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

STUDENTS going abroad for studies will now get priority in the vaccination of the 18-44 age group in Punjab.

At a high-level virtual Covid review meeting, Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh directed the health and medical education departments to allow districts to use up to 10 per cent of the doses allocated for the 18-45 group for priority categories other than those approved at state level.

Besides students seeking to go abroad, caregivers of elderly persons and other urgent priority groups may be included in this list, he added. Punjab's Covid Expert Group chief Dr KK Talwar said almost 30 per cent patients are having post Covid complications and continue to be symptomatic.

Patients are taking almost three months to get back to normal, and thus need to be strictly monitored, he added.

Restrictions extended

Meanwhile, the Punjab government ordered extension of Covid restrictions till June 15 with certain relaxations. Entry restrictions (negative Covid test or vaccination) for arrivals have been done away with. Shops can open till 6 pm and private offices can function at 50 per cent strength.

Night curfew will remain in force from 7 pm to 6 am on weekdays, including Saturdays, but regular weekend curfew will continue on Sundays. The CM said DMs may determine opening of non-essential shops on the basis of situation. Gyms and restaurants could be opened after a week with 50 per cent capacity and other conditions, if the situation improves. Gym and restaurant owners and staff should get themselves vaccinated first, he added.

'Modi conceded to Opposition; shifting blame on state govts not acceptable'

NEW DELHI: Many lives could have been saved if the government had decided to provide vaccines free in time instead of waiting for the Supreme Court to step in, the opposition parties said.

While Congress leader Rahul Gandhi questioned the PM that why should private hospitals charge if vaccines are free for all, former Union minister Jairam Ramesh said Modi inflicted a huge cost on the people of India before accepting the Opposition's demand for centralised procurement and free vaccination for those in the age group of 18-44 years.

Modi has conceded to the state government's requests of centralised procurement of vaccines, Punjab CM Amarinder Singh said.

CPI(M) general secretary Sitaram Yechury asserted that the PM blaming the Opposition-run states was unacceptable. "Now Modi abandons his policy, fearing a SC directive for a free and universal vaccination programme... Attempts by the Centre to blame Opposition run states are unacceptable when complete decision-making has been centralised in the PMO."

Tamil Nadu CM MK Stalin said as the PM stressed multiple times in his remarks that health is a state subject, it would be appropriate for states to be given complete control of registration, validation and administration procedures of the vaccination.

Pointing that every life is precious, Odisha Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik said no one is safe until everyone is vaccinated. ENS

SC raps Bengal for not sharing orphans' data

NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court on Monday allowed the Centre more time to appraise the court of the modalities of the recently launched 'PM-CARES for Children' scheme for the welfare of kids orphaned by the Covid-19 pandemic.

The NCPCR said the governments in certain states and Union territories are not cooperating and have not provided the latest data on the number of children who have lost their parents to Covid-19.

Additional Solicitor General K M Nataraj, appearing for the NCPCR, told the SC bench that it was facing difficulties with West Bengal and Delhi, which were not uploading the data of such children on 'Bal Swaraj'.

Additional Solicitor General Aishwarya Bhati, appearing for the Centre, said they were in consultation with states and ministries to work out the modalities of the scheme. The bench pulled up the Bengal government and asked how it could not understand the court's order stating that information regarding children, who have been orphaned after March 2020, is needed. A similar direction was passed for the Tamil Nadu government to expedite and complete the process.

The Delhi government said their data is provided solely by CWCs, while in other states different departments provide data to the DMs from where it is uploaded. ENS

18 killed, many missing as fire engulfs Pune factory

15 women among those killed; fire broke out after machine explosion; blaze fully doused, but search on to locate those missing

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

AS many as 18 people, including 15 women died and many are missing after a major fire at a chemical and sanitiser manufacturing plant in Pune on Monday.

The fire broke out after a machine exploded at the plant operated by SVS Aqua Technologies. At least 37 people, mostly local residents, were working at the facility when the incident happened. The fire trapped the workers inside the unit, killing 18.

The Maharashtra Industrial Development Corporation's (MIDC) fire forces quickly reached the spot. However, with the blaze blocking out the exits, the authorities had to break a wall to gain access to the building.

Though the blaze, which started around 4 pm, has been fully doused, a search was continuing as of Monday night, to locate the workers who have gone missing.

The plant is located in Urawade, near Pirangut in Mulshi tehsil on the outskirts of Pune. It is engaged in producing chlorine dioxide for water purification. Chlorine dioxide is a chemical compound that has a variety of antimicrobial uses, including the disinfection of drinking water.

The thick plume of smoke emanating from the factory caused panic in the area. Pune rural police reached the spot to control the crowd around the factory.

Earlier in the day, another fire broke out in the National Chemical Laboratory in Pune. No casualties were reported and the cause of the fire was yet to be ascertained, officials told journalists.

The employees used the fire extinguisher to douse the fire immediately. Explosive items that were housed in the laboratory were moved to safe locations, which helped avert a major causality. "A major accident was averted by quickly shifting flammable organic solvents kept in the lab with the help of staff," fire officials said.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced an ex-gratia of ₹2 lakh from the Prime Minister's Relief Fund to the next of kin of those who lost their lives to the fire at the SVS Aqua Technologies. Those injured would be given ₹50,000.

"Pained by the loss of lives due to a fire at a factory in Pune, Maharashtra. Condolences to the bereaved families," the Prime Minister tweeted. Union Home Minister Amit Shah Monday also expressed condolences to the family members of those who lost their lives. "I am deeply saddened by the heart-wrenching news of the fire at a chemical factory in Pune. I express my condolences to those who lost their loved ones in this accident and pray for the speedy recovery of those injured," Shah tweeted. Union minister of railways Piyush Goyal tweeted saying, "Deeply saddened to learn about the loss of lives due to a tragic fire accident at a factory in Pune. My thoughts and prayers are with the bereaved families in this hour of grief. May the injured recover soon."

Demand in Jammu for separate statehood

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

WITH J&K Lieutenant Governor Manoj Sinha meeting Union Home Minister Amit Shah, and more paramilitary troops being rushed to Kashmir, speculation has been rife that the Centre is about to make some major decisions on Jammu and Kashmir.

This has prompted Jammu-based parties to come forward demanding that Jammu be made a separate state.

Sinha met Shah and Home Secretary A K Bhalla in New Delhi for a security review meeting. Soon after the meeting, rumours have surfaced that the Centre is planning to give statehood to Jammu and may bifurcate Kashmir into two Union Territories.

Chairman of Ikkjut Jammu, advocate Akur Sharma told this newspaper that the Centre should give statehood to Jammu, alleging that the region has been discriminated against by the Valley-based leadership of J&K.

He said Kashmir should be further bifurcated into two UTs with one specially carved out for the Kashmiri Pandits, who migrated en-masse from the Valley after eruption of militancy in 1990.

Chairman of Duggar Saddar Sabha Gurchain Singh Charak said if the Centre feels Jammu should be granted statehood to improve the situation in the Valley, then they would welcome it. "Jammu is a peaceful region and has rejected militancy. The centre should separate it from Kashmir and grant it statehood."

Five Trinamool turncoats snap all contacts with BJP

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

FIVE Trinamool Congress (TMC) turncoats who joined the BJP ahead of the recent Assembly elections have snapped all contacts with the saffron camp, a BJP functionary said on Monday.

"Since the elections results were announced, five former TMC MLAs, whom the BJP had fielded, but could not win, have snapped all contacts with the party. We tried to contact them, but we couldn't. They are not reachable on the contact numbers available with the party," said the functionary in Kolkata.

Another functionary said many others are maintaining a distance from the party since the election results came out. "They may quit the BJP in the near future. It seems they are in touch with the TMC, but the ruling party has not yet decided its stand on those who are willing to come back," he said.

Before the Assembly elections, 33 turncoat MLAs—most of them from the TMC—joined the BJP. The saffron camp fielded 18 of them. But, only five managed to win a seat.

The five MLAs are former minister Rajib Banerjee, Sabyasachi Dutta, Prabir Ghoshal, Wilson Champramary, and Shukra Munda.

Five other TMC turncoats, who had earlier joined the BJP, had also left the saffron camp.

They are Sovan Chatterjee, Sonali Guha, Dipendu Biswas, Amal Acharya and Bachhu Hansda.

Meanwhile, TMC MP and spokesperson Saugata Roy said a final decision on whether to accept returning turncoats will be made by Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee.

The exodus from the Trinamool Congress to the BJP began after the latter made deep inroads into the former's turf in 2019 by winning 18 of Bengal's 42 Lok Sabha seats.

Junior docs call off strike after talks with govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

MORE than 3,000 junior doctors from six government medical colleges in Madhya Pradesh, who have been on strike demanding higher stipends ended their eight-day-old protest on Monday after the state government agreed to accept most of their demands.

The government accepted the protesting doctors' demand to raise their stipend by 17%. The government also agreed to provide free Covid-19 treatment for junior doctors and their kin at hospitals. The demand that a police outpost be set up in all medical colleges has also been accepted.

"The minister has also assured us about constituting a committee which will decide on our demand to raise the stipend by 24% and also assured to link the stipend with the Consumer Price Index (CPI)," the junior doctors' state body president Dr Arvind Meena told The New Indian Express.

The strike started on May 31 by junior doctors of government medical colleges in Indore, Bhopal and other cities. The government also assured the striking junior doctors of reversing the action initiated against them, including the cancellation of the registration of 468 post-graduate final-year students by the MP Medical Science University, Jabalpur.

Maratha community to launch agitation for reservation on June 16

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA'S Maratha community has decided to launch a massive agitation, demanding reservations for them on June 16.

Meanwhile, Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray is likely to meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday to discuss the subject of reservation for the Marathas. NCP chief Sharad Pawar is also likely to meet Narendra Modi in Delhi for the same reason.

BJP Rajya Sabha MP Chhatrapati Sambhaji announced the date for the launch of state-wide agitation at the memorial of the Shahu Maharaj in Kolhapur. The BJP state president Chandrakant Patil has extended support to the agitation. Patil said the BJP is with the Maratha community and will continue to fight for them till the community gets justice. Chhatrapati Sambhaji said that he is ready to sacrifice his life for the community. "I will fight till the last moment of life. The community should get the reservations. I will keep raising my voice for the community. Every community is getting reservations, then why not the Maratha community," asked the BJP leader.

He said he has met Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray and other leaders with demands for reservation.

"The Bhosale committee had given the report that has to be pursued in Supreme Court and other forums as well," he said.

The Supreme Court on May 5 quashed the Maratha quota law passed by the state legislature in November 2018.

A state government constituted committee, headed by Justice (retd) Dilip Bhosale, studied the SC judgment and recommended filing a review petition. The apex court had termed the state quota law as unconstitutional.

BJP gives booth-level workers in UP a say in candidate selection

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

BOOTH-LEVEL workers are set to play a key role in the selection of BJP candidates for the 2022 Uttar Pradesh Assembly elections, sources said on Monday.

The first step in the exercise of selecting candidates will happen over the next two months. A performance report of each sitting MLA will be prepared, based on the feedback from booth-level workers, independent agencies, and the party organisation.

The booth-level committees will also list the best alternative candidate who can replace a sitting MLA with a poor record. Based on the feedback received, each legislator will be graded as 'excellent, 'good' or 'average'.

Those MLAs who are graded as 'excellent' will not only be fielded again by the party, but also act as star campaigners. Those graded as 'good' will also be fielded. Those graded as 'average' will be asked to perform well in the next six months or be denied the party ticket, a senior BJP leader told The New Indian Express.

According to informed sources, the idea to give more power to booth-level party workers in candidate selection isn't only aimed at their empowerment, but also to address the discontent prevailing among the grass-root workers over the candidate selection in the recently-concluded panchayat polls.

Also, the panchayat polls, which were held in April, have divided the party workers on caste and other lines.

Giving them more power in selecting candidates for the upcoming polls, the party hopes, will address the discontent among them and motivate them to work together.

Once the legislators are aware that booth-level workers will have considerable clout in candidate selection, then they will work more closely with them in the coming months.

In the 2017 Assembly polls, the saffron party returned to power after a decade and a half with a monstrous 312-seat majority. But internal surveys, ahead of the next polls, have painted a worrying picture for the ruling party.

Recently, the party's in-charge for Uttar Pradesh Radha Mohan Singh and national general secretary B L Santosh were in the state to take stock of the situation amid reports of growing internal discord.

Son of grocery shopkeeper tops Bihar public service exams

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ Patna

OM Prakash Gupta, son of grocery shopkeeper Bindeshwar Sah, topped among 1,454 successful candidates in the 64th round of competitive exam of Bihar Public Service Commission (BPSC) of which results were declared on Sunday. It was Gupta's first attempt.

As a resident of Sonaru village in Patna's Fatuha areas, Gupta belongs to a middle class family, and did his B Tech from IIT Roorkee. His father had a grocery shop that shuttered in 2014, affecting the financial condition of the family. Unfazed, Gupta took up tuition for IIT aspirants in Patna to meet the household expenses and his studies for both UPSC and the BPSC. Gupta has also cleared the UPSC Main exam. He has opted math as an optional in both the UPSC and the BPSC exams.

"I studied for at least six hours daily for both exams, besides providing tuition to earn a living," he said. He has declined job offers from private companies because of his passion for administrative services. "The hope that I see in the eyes of my parents, the support of my sisters and brothers and appreciation of the local people has kept me going. They deserve all the credit for my success," he said.

Bokaro student wins Ganga Quest 2021

A class XII student of the Delhi Public School in Bokaro, Rishi Divya Kirti, won first place in the grand finale of a quiz competition dedicated to Ganga and other rivers. Ganga Quest 2021 was an online global quiz competition in which more than 11 lakh students from 113 nations participated. It was organized by the Union Jal Ministry and the National Mission for Clean Ganga (NMCG) in association with the Tree Craze Foundation on the occasion of World Environment Day 2021. The quiz was first conceptualized in 2019 as a project to educate individuals, especially students, about the Ganga and other rivers of India. Kirti finished first in the live quiz Grade III category conducted for Classes XI and XII students and was declared the overall winner of Ganga Quest 2021.

Centenarian to be 'poster dadu' of vaccination drive

With vaccine skepticism rampant in Jharkhand's rural areas, a centenarian from the state's Deoghar district has set an example by getting himself vaccinated. He is all set to emerge as the 'poster dadu' of the government's inoculation drive to combat Covid-19. Health officials in Deoghar successfully inoculated 101-year-old Chhota Jagdish Mahto from Devipur block with Covishield vaccine, making him the oldest in the state to be vaccinated. Deoghar Deputy Commissioner said, "The man has set an example."

Govt to audit hospitals reporting high fatality rate

The state government has asked the districts to identify the hospitals that have reported an unusually high number of deaths – Covid as well as non-Covid – from April 1 to May 21 and conduct a thorough audit of the fatalities in order to get an idea of the various circumstances that led to the death of the patients. National Health Mission (NHM) Director Ravi Shankar Shukla, in a letter, addressed to the deputy commissioners of all the 24 districts, asked them to identify such hospitals at their own level and begin the audit.

50 KILLED AS TRAIN SMASHES INTO DERAILED COACHES IN PAK

Army, paramilitary called in for rescue work | Over 100 people injured. Toll may rise, say officials | Over 1,000 passengers were on board the trains, 20 still trapped

KARACHI

AN express train rammed into derailed coaches of another train, killing up to 50 people and injuring over 100 others in Pakistan's southern Sindh province on Monday, forcing authorities to call in the Army and paramilitary forces for rescue and relief operations in one of the worst rail accidents in the country in recent years.

The Millat Express train from Karachi to Sargodha derailed and its coaches fell across the adjacent track near Dharki in Ghotki district of upper Sindh. The accident occurred when the Sir Syed Express headed from Rawalpindi to Karachi, smashed into the derailed coaches of the first train, a spokesperson of Pakistan Railways said.

Fifty people, including some railway officials, have lost their lives, Ghotki Deputy Commissioner Usman Abdullah was quoted as saying by ARY News. Over 100 persons were injured in the accident, officials said.

Ghotki SSP Umar Tufail said the toll may rise sharply as there were still mangled train compartments that rescuers had not been able to access despite the passage of hours since the accident. "At least 25 people have serious injuries and are in a critical condition," he said.

An emergency was declared at hospitals in Ghotki, Dharki, Obaro and Mirpur Mathelo where injured were rushed. Senior officials said 13 to 14 bogies were derailed in the accident while six to eight were "completely destroyed".

Rescuing passengers who are still trapped is a "challenge" for the rescue officials, Abdullah said, adding that a relief train has departed from Rohri. "This is a challenging task. It will take time to use heavy machinery to free citizens (still trapped)," he said.

"The driver tried to apply emergency brakes but the locomotive hit the infringing coaches," the railways said in an initial report. Officials were still trying to retrieve bodies and the injured from one of the mangled coaches, with the effort being hampered by lack of appropriate cutters.

The Inter-Services Public Relations (ISPR) ' the media wing of the military ' said army doctors and ambulances were participating in the rescue operation. Army engineers and specialist teams of Urban Search and Rescue - equipped with disc cutters, hydraulic spreaders and other specialised machinery - also reached the site after being airlifted from Rawalpindi to aid the effort.

Reacting to the train accident, Prime Minister Imran Khan said that he was "shocked by the horrific train accident". President Arif Alvi also expressed sorrow over the loss of lives in the train accident.

Sir Syed Express train's driver Aijaz Shah, who survived, said that he was rescued by locals after two hours of the collision. He said the train was running at normal speed when he suddenly saw the derailed coaches at the track. Due to the short distance, the train rammed into the derailed coaches, causing the accident.

According to officials, over 1,000 passengers were on board the two trains.

Around 20 passengers still remained trapped in the wreckage of some of the bogies which were damaged and overturned, a spokesperson for the railways department said, adding that officials were accumulating all the information of the passengers and staff on both the trains.

Sindh CM Murad Ali Shah expressed grief over the loss of lives and directed the Sukkur Commissioner to mobilise the district administration, Dawn news reported. PTI

Writ plea filed in apex court against cabinet reshuffle by Nepal PM Oli

KATHMANDU

A WRIT petition was filed at Nepal's Supreme Court on Monday demanding nullification of the Cabinet reshuffle by Prime Minister K P Sharma Oli, arguing that being a caretaker premier he did not have the executive power to reshuffle or induct new ministers.

The writ filed by senior advocate Dinesh Tripathi urged the apex court to rescind the caretaker prime minister's decision to induct new ministers as it goes against the spirit of the Constitution, The Himalayan Times reported.

The writ argued that Oli is a caretaker PM for now — as the House of Representatives stands dissolved — and as such does not have the executive power to reshuffle or induct new ministers.

The writ demands that the court issue an order to rescind the June 4 cabinet expansion and reshuffling and stop the PM from taking any decision that would increase the economic burden on the exchequer.

Oli, 69, joined hands with Madhesi Janata Samajwadi Party after effecting a major Cabinet reshuffle on June 4.

Oli, who has been facing opposition from within his own party against his move to dissolve the House of Representatives, retained only four old cabinet members, Lilanath Shrestha, Basanta Kumar Nembang, Bishnu Paudel, and Krishna Gopal Shrestha, in the cabinet. He removed some key ministers, including Deputy PM Ishwor Pokharel and Foreign Minister Pradeep Gyawali.

He had inducted eight ministers and two state ministers from the Mahanta Thakur- Rajendra Mahato Faction of the Janata Samajbadi Party-Nepal. The Mahantha Thakur-led faction of the JSP decided to join the Oli-led minority government after the prime minister agreed to meet some of their key demands, including the citizenship issue that has been on hold in the parliamentary State Affairs Committee for the last three years and withdrawal of cases filed against 120 leaders and cadres of the JSP.

The Opposition and experts have flayed his move, saying it was against the constitutional norms when the Parliament has already been dissolved and election dates have been fixed for November 12 and 19.

Nepal President Bidya Devi Bhandari dissolved the 275-member House of Representatives on May 22 for the second time in five months and announced snap elections on November 12 and November 19 on the advice of Prime Minister Oli. PTI

Poland will always back Belarusians, says PM

WARSAW (POLAND)

POLAND'S prime minister Mateusz Morawiecki vowed on Monday that the government would always support Belarusians struggling for democracy, weighing in after a senior member of his ruling party suggested Polish solidarity could be conditional.

Poland's bickering political factions have been united in their support for those in Belarus opposing the dictatorship of President Alexander Lukanshenko.

For Poland, a united front against authoritarianism to the east has been considered virtuous. That is, until a presidential contender in last year's elections in Belarus, Sviatlana Tsikhanouskaya, dared to meet last week with Warsaw Mayor Rafal Trzaskowski, who belongs to a centrist opposition party at odds with the ruling right-wing Law and Justice party (LJP).

Ryszard Terlecki, a deputy parliament speaker and LJP member, was angered and tweeted on Friday: "If Tsikhanouskaya wants to promote the anti-democratic opposition in Poland and speak at Trzaskowski's meeting, let her seek help in Moscow."

The comments outraged many Poles and there were demands by the opposition for him to resign. AP

Harris targets graft, immigration on Latin America trip

GUATEMALA CITY

WITH Kamala Harris visiting Guatemala and Mexico on her first foreign trip as US vice-president, the Biden administration is expected to announce new measures to fight smuggling and trafficking, and hopes to announce additional anti-corruption efforts, an administration official said Sunday.

Harris has been tasked by President Joe Biden with addressing the root causes of the spike in migration to the U.S.-Mexico border. Corruption, which the administration sees as directly related to the increased migration, is expected to be a central focus of her meetings with Guatemalan President Alejandro Giammattei on Monday and Mexico's Andres Manuel Lopez Obrador on Tuesday.

The official, who briefed reporters traveling with Harris on Sunday, spoke on condition of anonymity to preview announcements before they have been made public. No further details were provided.

The trip got off to a rocky start when Harris' plane returned to Joint Base Andrews in Maryland about 30 minutes after takeoff because of what her spokesperson said was a problem with the landing gear. She departed on another plane about an hour and a half later.

Harris is seeking to secure commitments from Guatemala and Mexico for greater cooperation on border security and economic investment, but corruption in the region ' a far more intractable challenge ' will complicate her efforts.

It's already had a significant impact on her work in Central America. Harris has yet to engage substantively with the leaders of Honduras and El Salvador, who are both embroiled in corruption scandals. And it's an issue that experts say will need to be addressed to make any lasting changes.

"Corruption is a cancer in the region," said Jason Marczak, director of the Atlantic Council's Adrienne Arsht Latin America Center. "Addressing corruption is fundamental to creating hope and creating the potential for opportunity."

Marczak said corruption affects human rights protections, employment opportunities, the cost of goods and much more.

Harris has laid out an approach centered on creating better opportunities and living conditions in the region through humanitarian and economic aid. She announced plans to send $310 million to provide support for refugees and address food shortages, and recently secured commitments from a dozen companies and organizations to invest in the Northern Triangle countries to promote economic opportunity and job training.

Washington won some goodwill through its vaccine diplomacy this past week. Giammattei and L'pez Obrador both received calls from Harris on Thursday telling them the U.S. would be sending 500,000 doses and 1 million doses, respectively, of Covid vaccine.

While in Guatemala, Harris also plans to meet community leaders, innovators and entrepreneurs. AP

G7 NATIONS URGED TO HELP VACCINATE WORLD'S POOREST

LONDON

SOME 230 world leaders, including former presidents, prime ministers and ministers have backed a campaign urging the G7 countries to help vaccinate the world's poorest from low-income economies against Covid by paying two-thirds of an estimated $66 billion required.

A letter, seen by the 'Guardian' newspaper ahead of the G7 summit to be hosted by UK Prime Minister Boris Johnson in Cornwall from Friday, warns that leaders of the UK, US, France, Germany, Italy, Japan and Canada must make 2021 'a turning point in global cooperation' because fewer than 2% of people in sub-Saharan Africa have been vaccinated.

The letter, whose signatories include former British PMs Tony Blair and Gordon Brown, argues the investment needed is affordable for the world's richest economies and vital to stopping the spread of new coronavirus variants that could undermine current vaccines.

"The year 2020 witnessed a failure of global cooperation, but 2021 can usher in a new era. No one anywhere is safe from Covid until everyone is safe everywhere," reads the letter.

"Support from the G7 and G20 that makes vaccines readily accessible to low and middle-income countries is not an act of charity, but rather is in every country's strategic interest, and as described by the IMF [International Monetary Fund] is the best public investment in history'," it notes. As per the newspaper, prominent figures who have signed the letter include former UN Secretary-General Ban-Ki Moon, former Irish President Mary Robinson and Taoiseach Bertie Ahern and 15 former African leaders. PTI

Franklin can't offer new debt schemes for 2 yrs

The asset management firm has also been penalised by Sebi for violation of regulations

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a big blow to Franklin Templeton Asset Management company (AMC), the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) has barred the fund house from launching any new debt fund for two years, and imposed a penalty of ₹5 crore after the market regulator found the AMC committing 'impropriety' which caused loss and hardship to investors.

Sebi also ordered disgorgement of Rs 512 crore that the AMC earned in fund management fee from six debt funds that it decided to wind up on April 23 2020.

The market regulator in its order said that it found the AMC seriously wanting in so far as its conduct as an AMC is concerned. "There are findings of breaches of the Mutual Funds Regulations, income derived out of wrongful conduct, which ultimately resulted in loss and caused hardship to the investors." The AMC was accused of running debt schemes without properly disclosing the investment strategies of the schemes, wrongly valuing securities, entering ambiguous terms of investments among others. This resulted in the AMC having to wind up six of its schemes.

Sebi also banned Vivek Kudva, who is FT AMC's head of Asia Pacific, and his wife Roopa Kudva, MD, Omidyar Network India, from trading in from buying, selling or otherwise dealing in securities for one year as both were found to be indulged in unfair trade practice. The market regulator also imposed a penalty of ₹4 crore on Vivek Kudwa and ₹3 crore on Roopa Kudva. Vivek and Roopa Kudva had redeemed their investments to the tune of ₹30.70 crore from the six debt schemes just before Franklin Templeton AMC decided to wound up the schemes on 23 April 2020. According to Sebi, Vivek Kudwa as a director of FT–AMC was privy to information such as concerns of redemption, concentration and liquidity risk pertaining to the stress in the debt schemes, most of which was not in public domain. He, therefore, used the information to his advantage and redeemed his family's investments in the said schemes.

Parle forays into packaged wheat flour market

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

BISCUITS and snacks maker Parle Products on Monday announced its foray into the branded wheat flour (atta) market. Being a staple in most households, the 'Chakki Atta' is being launched under its Parle G brand —the largest selling biscuit brand in India.

Branded wheat flour is one of the largest segments in the foods industry and the majority of the demand is currently being met by local mills or neighbourhood chakkis. The segment, however, has benefited from the Covid-19 pandemic that saw an increasing demand for packaged food products over loose. With this launch, the company will compete directly with rival ITC's Aashirvaad flour brand which currently dominates the market.

"The urban markets lead in the consumption of packaged atta making it largely an urban phenomenon. But with the onset of the pandemic, the need for hygienically ground wheat flour and an assurance of trusted brand is driving consumers in the tier 2 and tier 3 cities to switch to branded atta. We aim to reach the remotest household in the country to provide hygienically ground atta and help consumers switch to healthy options," said Mayank Shah, senior category head, Parle Products. According to the company, the distribution of the new product has begun in the northern and western regions and is available in three sizes — 2 kg, 5 kg and 10 kg — with competitive pricing.

Way back in 2002, when ITC launched Aashirvaad atta, it was a latecomer to the branded market. HUL, with Annapurna and General Mills, with Pilsbury had beaten it by a couple of years. Soon, however, within four years says the company, the brand had edged past its peers to corner the maximum market share. Retail sales of Aashirvaad brand, in fact, crossed ₹6,000 crore in FY20.

Branded wheat flour market is growing rapidly

India's packaged atta market is pegged at around ` 20,000 crore, or 60 lakh tonnes annually. More than 50 per cent of the market is controlled by branded companies, including ITC, Adani and Patanjali

MUTHOOT FINANCE

MUTH delivered a strong 4QFY21, especially on the growth front. Despite the 10-12% decline in gold prices, it managed to grow the loan book by 4% QoQ, which is encouraging. Even in the second wave, loan demand may remain high as customers' cash flows will be stressed. We expect the company to deliver ~15% loan growth in the medium term. With an AA+ rating, the cost of funds is likely to fall. This should mitigate yield pressure, if any. RoA is likely to remain at 6.5%.

NCLT clears Piramal group's bid for home loan provider DHFL

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

AFTER many twists and turns as well as an acrimonious fight between Piramal and Adani groups, the corporate insolvency resolution process of DHFL has finally seen a closure with the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) approving Piramal Group's bid for the distressed home loan provider.

Piramal Group's resolution plan offers ₹37,500 crore against creditors' total claim of ₹86,700 crore. The creditors included banks, financial institutions as well as around 74,000 fixed deposit holders. As per Piramal's plan, banks will have to take a haircut of 60-65% while it is even higher for fixed deposit holders at 75%. However, the NCLT order suggests the Committee of Creditors reconsider the amount for deposit holders.

DHFL was referred to the NCLT by the Reserve Bank of India in November 2019, making it the first financial service provider to be taken to the tribunal for insolvency. RBI invoked the new rule for insolvency of financial services providers to refer DHFL for insolvency, over its failure to repay a loan from State Bank of India. NCLT admitted the insolvency application on 3 December 2019 and appointed R Subramaniakumar as the administrator.

Also in the race for DHFL were Oaktree Capital, which had offered ₹34,000 crore, and Adani Group, which was ready to shell out ₹33,000 crore.

While NCLT has approved Piramal's bid, there are a few legal impediments. Ex-promoter of DHFL Kapil Wadhawan had offered for settlement and was ready to pay back ₹91,000 crore to creditors. After his offer was rejected, Wadhawan moved the Supreme Court. Hearings are pending. Another writ petition filed by a fixed depositor – Sasakawa-India Leprosy Foundation – challenging the constitutional validity of Financial Service Providers rule under the IBC Code is also pending before the Delhi High Court.

Low demand, supply woes hinder CV production

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

WHILE two-wheeler and passenger vehicle makers have restarted production without facing much difficulty, a few commercial vehicle (CV) manufacturers are struggling to reopen their facilities after the second wave of Covid-19 pandemic forced every automaker to suspend operations for multiple days last month.

SML Isuzu on Monday informed that it has suspended production at its manufacturing plant in Punjab till June 11, citing lower demand and supply constraints. The company sold just 554 commercial vehicles in the first two months of the current financial year (FY22) as against 3,068 vehicles sold in April-May period of FY20. "Due to the ongoing pandemic situation and lockdowns enforced in most of the states, the company is still facing supply issues from some of its vendors. Further, demand for commercial vehicles has been adversely impacted especially for school buses due to non-opening of schools / educational institutions," the company said in a BSE filing.

Hinduja Group flagship Ashok Leyland, which reported a 62 per cent month-on-month drop in May sales to 3,199 units, had last week said its plants are still not fully operational due to regional lockdowns. In June, the company expects to run their facilities only for 5-10 days. It also noted that the demand scenario is yet to pick up due to lockdowns.

Daimler India Commercial Vehicles had also shuttered production at its Tamil Nadu plant for three days between June 1 and June 3 due to temporary parts shortages caused due to lockdown restrictions.

Ratings agency Crisil said that the new wave-led curbs will limit domestic CV sales volume growth to 23-28 per cent this fiscal as against pre-pandemic levels of 32-37 per cent.

Wilful defaults go downhill amid stay on tagging NPA, but may spike in FY22

SUNITHA NATTI

THE Covid-19 relief measures to help banks seem to be turning recovery efforts on its head. As lenders were barred from classifying accounts as bad last fiscal, both suit-filed defaults and wilful defaults crashed with a giant thud.

The outstanding amount on suit-filed cases (defaults above ₹1 crore) fell to ₹4.1 lakh crore as on March 2021, from ₹7.3 lakh crore as on March 2020. Likewise, wilful defaults (defaults above ₹25 lakh) fell by ₹5,000 crore during the same period. The sharp decline is, perhaps, a first in recent years since the twin-balance sheet problem began amid rising bad loans. It's likely that the numbers will spike later this year with asset classification norms being restored.

Latest data from TransUnion-Cibil shows that though the decline in wilful defaults is relatively less, its share in overall suit-filed cases increased to 50 per cent now from about 40 per cent last year.

Of the ₹2.1 lakh crore wilful defaults, public sector banks accounted for 88 per cent or ₹1.8 lakh crore. State Bank of India has the biggest burden at ₹67,077 crore (belonging to 1,801 borrowers), while the 10 nationalised banks including Punjab National Bank, Bank of Baroda, and others have an aggregate ₹1.1 lakh crore marked as wilful defaults. This is lower than the previous year's ₹1.4 lakh crore.

A suit filed case is one where lenders move court when borrowers default loan payments, while wilful defaulters are those who deliberately avoid repayments or siphon off or divert borrowed funds for undisclosed purposes.

The Supreme Court's order on standstill of NPA classification, coupled with the lenders' inability to enforce recovery efforts led to fewer new cases in FY21. "With standstill on asset classification directed by the Supreme Court and consequent inability of lenders to classify accounts as non-performing and enforce recovery actions, the recovery suits filed by the lenders declined. Additionally, resolution of some of the large ticket NPAs could also be a factor," Anil Gupta, Sector Head - Financial Sector Ratings, ICRA Ratings told this publication.

Meanwhile, of the ₹4.1 lakh crore suit-filed defaults, the share of state-run banks fell to 65 per cent from over 75 per cent last year. This was partly due to the increase in cases from private banks, whose outstanding amount stood at ₹1.2 lakh crore as on March 2021, up from ₹90,434 crore a year before. While SBI's suit-filed defaults remained flat at about ₹1.6 lakh crore, nationalised banks saw the biggest correction as the outstanding amount fell to ₹1.1 lakh crore in FY21 from a staggering ₹3.5 lakh crore. The comparison may not be entirely apt as the number of banks reduced from 17 to 10 in FY21 due to mergers and also due to privatisation of IDBI Bank.

With standstill on asset classification and consequent inability of lenders to classify accounts as non-performing, the recovery suits filed declined —Anil Gupta, Sector Head - Financial Sector Ratings, ICRA

No consensus on reduction of GST rates on vaccines, Covid-19 essentials

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Group of Ministers (GoM) set up to examine the issue of GST exemption on critical pandemic relief supplies, including Covid-19 vaccines failed to reach a consensus and the matter may go back to the Council.

"There is no clear consensus yet. It is a divided mandate. However, many aspects have been discussed. If there is no consensus, if there is no agreement, the matter will go back to the council again. A report will be submitted on the observations that were made during the deliberation," a source aware of the development told TNIE.

Sources say, the report was submitted on Monday to the finance minister. Slashing of GST rates on medicines, medical grade oxygen, pulse oximeters, test kits, hand sanitisers, oxygen therapy equipment, ventilators and other supplies was on the top of agenda in the last GST council meeting.

There was a lot of deliberation on this matter after the fitment committee said reducing GST would result in revenue losses. Several states, however, said the rates have to be reduced else it will add to the burden of common people. Opposition states, including West Bengal, Kerala and Punjab, have been demanding that the GST levied on Covid-related items be scrapped.

The finance minister had then formed a GoM to examine the issue headed by Meghalaya Chief Minister Conrad Sangma. "I have decided and announced a group of ministers to submit a report within ten days on or before June 8 so that if there are any further reductions that need to be done, will be done," Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman had said in a media briefing after the meeting. She also added that the revenue implications were not driving the rate cut reluctance.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

THE Centre's decision to bring forward the target dates for implementing higher ethanol blending in petrol has sent sugar mill stocks zooming and several companies, including KM Sugar Mills, Riga Sugar, and Dharani Sugars, hit their upper circuits during the trading session on Monday.

Upper and lower circuits are used by stock exchanges to control volatility in stock prices. The upper circuit is the maximum percentage by which a stock can increase during a single session, after which trading in the stock is suspended for a certain period.

While an official notification from the government to oil marketing companies (OMC) had brought forward put the date of implementation for 20 per cent ethanol-blended (E20) petrol to April 1, 2023, a Niti Aayog report released by Prime Minister Narendra Modi over the weekend recommends that E20 petrol should be implemented in phases from April 2023, with complete implementation well within reach by 2025. The earlier targeted date for full E20 rollout had been 2030.

Much is to be gained by this renewed push for ethanol-blended fuels, not least of which is a more eco-friendly fuel and, according to the government's estimates, around Rs 30,000 crore in import costs. India currently imports around four-fifths of its petroleum requirements.

But sugar companies struggling with a global sugar surplus for years now stand to gain significantly too. According to both government and industry estimates, achieving full E20 rollout by 2025 would require oil companies to procure 10 billion litres of ethanol from the market. According to a Motilal Oswal estimate in May 2021, sugar companies have committed to providing around 3.5 billion litres during October 2020-September 2021.

The bids are now to be submitted by June 15, 2021. Successful bidders are to be selected by July 20.

Hyatt Regency Mumbai suspends operations due to lack of funds

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FIVE-star hotel property Hyatt Regency Mumbai on Monday issued a notice informing its on-roll staff that no funds are forthcoming from Asian Hotels (West) Ltd, that owns the property, to enable payment of salaries or to support the operations of the hotel. As a result, the hotel has to be closed until further notice.

Located on the Sahar Airport road, Hyatt Regency is close to ITC Maratha and the Hilton Mumbai International Airport. Within a radius of less than a kilometre from Hyatt Regency lies three other five-star hotels, the JW Marriott, The Lalit and The Leela. These properties will most likely benefit from the shutting of operations of Hyatt.

"This is to inform all the on-roll staff of the hotel that no funds are forthcoming from Asian Hotels (West) Ltd, the owner of Hyatt Regency Mumbai, to enable payment of salaries or to support the operations of the hotel. As a consequence, the decision has been taken to temporarily suspend all operations for Hyatt Regency Mumbai with immediate effect. The hotel will remain closed until further notice," the note signed by hotel GM Hardip Marwah said.

Meanwhile, the top management said that Hyatt is working closely with the hotel's owner to resolve this situation at the earliest. The suspension of operations of the Hyatt Regency coincides with the same day when the Maharashtra government eased several localised restrictions.

Tata Digital invests $75 mn in fitness start-up Curefit

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

TATA Group's ambition of developing India's first super-app got one step closer with its subsidiary firm Tata Digital signing a deal for investing of up to $75 million in fitness start-up Curefit. The development comes on the heels of the company acquiring 64.3 per cent in e-grocer Big Basket for $1.2 billion and also a likely acquisition of epharma 1 mg. Tata Sons is aiming to take on Reliance with its digital expansion and create a one stop shop for the 500 million internet users of the country ranging from fashion, grocery, pharma to food delivery.

As a part of the Curefit-Tata deal, Mukesh Bansal, co-founder and CEO, Tata Digital will join the company as President, in addition to continuing his leadership role at Curefit. In 2017, Tata Group chairman emeritus Ratan Tata had invested $3 million in the start-up.

Curefit is backed by Chitrae ventures, Temasek, Accel. The Covid-19 induced restrictions has rendered many of its health/ fitness centres across the country non-operational.

Revenues slumped to zero

Curefit co-founders Mukesh Bansal and Ankit Nagori have claimed that all employees were paid full salaries for March and April even though Cure.fit's revenue went down to nearly zero from over ₹70 crore a month. Both had to forego salaries for one entire year and initiate paycuts to keep the company running, they had said.

England suspend Robinson pending racism probe

Ollie Robinson will miss next week's second Test against New Zealand at Edgbaston after being suspended from all international cricket pending an investigation into racist and sexist Twitter messages, the England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) announced Sunday. Sussex quick Robinson made an impressive on-field debut in the drawn first Test at Lord's.

Uncertainty over Kyrgyzstan, Kazakh trips

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

INDIAN athletes' plans to compete abroad this year seem to be jinxed. After missing out on the World Relays on May 1-2 and a training stint in Turkey later, some of the elite athletes were planning to compete in Kyrgyzstan and Kazakhstan later this week.

However, the trips seem unlikely as of now. The teams were supposed to leave on June 9, but because of logistical issues the trip has not been cleared as of now. Some even indicated that it was because the countries are unwilling to host Indian athletes due to strict covid norms in those countries. However, late at night, a top AFI official said they were still trying.

According to AFI elite athletes were scheduled to travel to Bishkek, Kyrgyzstan, on Wednesday to take part in the T Kolpakova (a Permit Meet and World Athletics category D event) on June 12 and 13. They were supposed to leave for the Qosanov Memorial in Almaty on June 19-20. Some athletes, especially Tajinder Pal Singh Toor and the women's relay team (currently ranked No 15 in the Race to Tokyo list) would be eager to consolidate their positions. With the athletics season starting in most of the continents, other teams might threaten to dislodge both the men's (No 14 on Road to Tokyo list) and women's 4x400m teams from the top 16 before the qualification cycle for Olympics ends on June 29. In fact, even before the Silesia trip was called off, the women's relay team pulled out of the World Relay. The 4x100m women's relay team too was expected to go.

With time running out, especially for Tajinder, who is precariously placed at 29 in the Race to Tokyo list, and the relay teams too on edge, the federation may be forced to host the Indian Grand Prix 4 if these trips are off.

The AFI had earlier thought prudent to not host the meet if Indian athletes were abroad for competitions. With Kyrgyzstan and Kazakhstan in suspense, it is likely the Indian GP, at least one of them, would be held before the Interstate athletics competition in Patiala from June 25-29.

Athletes, especially those on the brink, would be in a fix. They desperately need competitions to accumulate as many points to not fall out of the Road to Tokyo list.

India begin training in batches

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

THREE days after touching down in Southampton, Team India trained for the first time in batches at the Rose Bowl on Monday. The team is currently placed under hard quarantine and have to clear another round of Covid-19 tests on Tuesday before they can train together. The team is currently staying at a hotel which is attached to the Rose Bowl.

The Virat Kohli-led India side left to the UK on June 3 to play the World Test Championship final against NZ and five Tests against England. Since the entire team had quarantined in Mumbai before leaving for Southampton, the UK authorities have relaxed the norms. But certain rules still persist, namely two Covid-19 tests in the first five days before they can mix together even in the common area. At present, their movements are restricted. On Monday, when they had their first session, players took the field in batches from 11 AM to 1. 30 PM.

World No 1 storms back after losing first two sets to Musetti

AFP @Paris

NOVAK Djokovic battled back from two sets down to reach the French Open quarter-finals for the 15th time on Monday as 17-year-old Coco Gauff became the youngest woman to reach a Grand Slam last eight since 2006.

World No 1 Djokovic stayed on course to become the first man in over 50 years to win all four Slams twice but only after surviving a rousing challenge from 19-year-old Lorenzo Musetti.

The Italian teenager, ranked 76 and making his Grand Slam debut, was poised to condemn Djokovic to his earliest exit in Paris in 12 years when he captured the first two sets, 7-6 (9/7), 7-6 (7/2).

But Djokovic levelled by taking the next two, 6-1, 6-0 before Musetti, who had taken a medical timeout, retired at 4-0 down in the decider suffering from a stomach injury.

"I like to play young guys in the best of five because even at two sets down, I feel I still have my chances," said Djokovic. "I feel physically fit, I have won most of my five-setters and that experience helps. It's unfortunate for him to have to retire but I could see he was struggling physically."

It was the fifth time in his Grand Slam career that the 34-year-old Djokovic has come back from to sets down to win.

Djokovic, the 2016 champion and chasing a 19th major, reeled off 53 of the last 61 points against the weary Italian as he made a quarter-final at the majors for the 49th time.

Gauff swept to a 6-3, 6-1 win over Tunisia's Ons Jabeur. At just 17, she is the youngest woman to reach the last eight of a Slam since Nicole Vaidisova who made the quarter-finals at Roland Garros in 2006. Gauff is also the youngest American woman to book a place in the last eight in Paris since Jennifer Capriati in 1993.

Shushila makes provisional Olympic cut

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

BOTH Indian judokas — Jasleen Singh Saini and L Shushila Devi — lost their respective opening bouts at the World Judo Championships in Budapest (Hungary), but the latter is expected to grab the continental quota and make the Olympic cut based on superior ranking points. An official announcement in this regard will be made on June 28.

"I can't express how happy I am (for making the provisional Olympic cut). It was very difficult because of the Covid-19 pandemic. I always worked hard no matter which tournament I was competing in but, this time, I put in extra efforts to ensure I represent the country in the Olympics," Shushila, who's currently seventh in the Asian ranking, told this daily from Budapest. The top-10 are eligible for continental quota.

A win in the first round guarantees a judoka 200 points. Shushila, with 989 points, was leading Jasleen by 69 points going into the tournament.

EURO 2020

Marquee clashes in store

There are plenty of intriguing battles to watch out for as Euro 2020 gets underway on June 11. On day 4 of our countdown to the continental tournament, we take a look at some key games that you wouldn't want to miss...

1. GROUP D: ENGLAND VS CROATIA, JUNE 13

Croatia and England had met in the semifinal of the 2018 World Cup, where the Luka Modric-led side came out on top. Things could be a little different this time around as some of the stars from that Croatia team have retired, including Mario Mandzukic and Ivan Rakitic, while England have seen new stars like Phil Foden, Mason Mount and Jack Grealish emerge.

2. GROUP F: FRANCE VS GERMANY, JUNE 15

Interestingly, these two heavyweights will be meeting in the group stage of a European Championship or World Cup for the first time when they meet in Munich. It will be Joachim Loew's last assignment as Germany's head coach and he would want to improve his record against the world champions. He hasn't beaten France in their previous five meetings.

3. GROUP A: ITALY VS SWITZERLAND, JUNE 16

After failing to qualify for the 2018 World Cup, the Azzurri embarked on a rebuilding process and the pieces seem to be coming together. But they are in a tough group alongside Wales, Switzerland and Turkey. While Gareth Bale will be a dangerous proposition for the Italians, it will be the men from Switzerland who could pose the biggest challenge as they are a strong collective unit.

4. GROUP B: BELGIUM VS DENMARK, JUNE 17

Belgium finished third at the 2018 World Cup and the Red Devils are considered among the favourites for this. Their first assignment, though, is a tough one as they face Denmark. It remains to be seen if superstars Kevin De Bruyne and Eden Hazard will be available for the opener against the Danes.

5. GROUP E: SPAIN VS POLAND, JUNE 19

This is a high-octane clash as one of the most lethal forwards in world football goes up against a formidable force in transition. Polish captain Robert Lewandoski has been in red-hot form in recent seasons and he will be testing a Spanish defence that will not have the likes of Sergio Ramos or Gerard Piqué.

CHHETRI BRACE GIVES INDIA VICTORY

DOHA: INDIA recorded their first win in FIFA World Cup qualifiers in six years after talisman Sunil Chhetri struck twice for a 2-0 victory over Bangladesh in the joint preliminary round match here on Monday.

Chhetri first found the back of the net in the 79th minute to keep his team on course for entry into the third qualifying round of the 2023 Asian Cup. Starting the match on the bench, second-half substitute Ashique Kuruniyan delivered a cross from the left for Chhetri, after a long run and from a tight angle, headed in brilliantly from behind Topu Barman. It was that man Chhetri again as he rounded off his night with another fine strike in extra time (90+2) after receiving the ball from Suresh Singh from the right flank.

The double strikes meant India registered their first win in what was turning out to be one of their worst World Cup qualifying campaigns in many years. A confident India found themselves pressing in the opposition half after Chhetri's 73rd goal in international football and the move worked as he scored the team's second just before the final whistle.

MILD

- No shortness of breath
- Respiratory rate less than 24/min
- SpO_2: = 94% on room air, Take 6 min walk test

HOME ISOLATION (TELE CONSULTATION) OR COVID CARE CENTRE

MAINSTAY TREATMENT

- Promote Covid-19 appropriate behaviour; advise healthy, balanced diet with proper hydration
- Advise patients and family to stay connected and engage in positive talk through phone, video-calls, etc.
- Self-monitoring for fever, breathlessness, SpO_2 or worsening of any symptoms
- Anti-pyretic and Anti-tussive for symptomatic relief
- Inhalational Budesonide (given via metered dose inhaler with space device) at 800 mcg BD for 5 days for cough. No other Covid-19 medication required

INVESTIGATIONS

The patient may have to be investigated further If symptoms persist or deteriorate

MODERATE

- Shortness of breath ++
- Difficulty in breathing ++
- Respiratory rate more than 24 but less than 30
- SpO_2: 90-93% on room air
- Admit in DCHC or Covid-19 Hospital

MAINSTAY TREATMENT

- Oxygen support to be titrated to maintain SpO_2 between 92%-95% in patients without COPD
- Initial device for oxygen, administration (nasal prongs, simple face mask or NRB mask) depends upon severity of hypoxia & work of breathing
- In case of COPD, oxygen therapy may not be required as target SpO_2 is between 88%-92% which by definition of moderate cases is already present
- Control of co-morbid conditions especially diabetes
- Steroids have to be given if SpO2 is below 92%.
- Proning helps in better oxygenation
- Obtain baseline investigations and repeat the same as per investigation box below
- Further treatment by steroids, anticoagulants and/or of immunemodulators shall be guided by the results of the baseline and repeat investigations
- Prophylactic doses of anti-coagulants such as LMWH or unfractionated heparin

SEVERE

- Shortness of breath +++
- Difficulty in breathing +++
- Respiratory rate more than 30/min
- SpO_2: less than 90% on room air except in COPD patients
- Admit in ICU of Covid-19 hospital

MAINSTAY TREATMENT

- Immediate oxygen therapy, initiate at 5 L/Min and titration to reach target SpO_2 = 90% in non-pregnant adults and 92-96% in pregnant patients
- Consider use of NIV (helmet or face mask interface depending on availability) in patients with increasing oxygen requirement
- Consider use of HFNC if patient does not improve
- Consider intubation & mechanical ventilation if patient still does not improve or work of breathing is very high
- Start steroid therapy, Obtain baseline investigations and repeat the same as per investigation box below
- Further treatment by steroids, anti-coagulants and/or of immune-modulators shall be guided by the results of the baseline and repeat investigations
- Prophylactic doses of anticoagulants such as LMWH or UFH eg 40 mg enoxaparin S/C daily
- Antcoagulants may also be administered based on clinical judgement

ACTIVATE HOSPITAL INFECTION CONTROL COMMITTEE

INVESTIGATIONS

- Baseline lab includes: CBC, Blood Glucose, urine routine, LFT, KFT, CRP, S. Ferritin, D-DIMER, LDH, CPK
- May be repeated as following:
- Guide for repeat investigations: CRP & D-DIMER 48 to 72 hourly; CBC, KFT, LFT 24 to 48 hourly; IL-6 levels to be done if deteriorating (subject to availability), may have to be repeated more frequently in ICU settings
- Serial CXR at least 48 hours apart
- HRCT chest to be done ONLY if there is worsening of symptoms

New Remdesivir use protocol

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

IN what is being seen as a move to further rationalise the use of Remdesivir for Covid-19 patients, the Central government on Monday said that the drug can be used for hospitalised patients only on the advice of senior faculty members or specialists directly involved in the treatment.

The fresh guidelines, issued by the health ministry and ICMR, also say that if the investigational drug has to be advised or ordered during odd hours, it should be done by the duty doctor after a phone-consult with a senior faculty member or specialist or unit in-charge. The advice or order for the drug must be written and bear the name, signature and stamp of the concerned doctor.

Importantly, all hospitals have been instructed to set up a special drug committee, preferably with a pharmacology specialist, which must review the use of Remdesivir periodically.

This committee will be expected to share their findings with the clinicians periodically to ensure rational and judicious use of the drug, which according to evidence so far, has no benefit for Covid-19 patients in terms of mortality or disease progression but may reduce days of hospitalisation to some extent.

The new advisory also reiterates that the drug should be procured and provided by the hospitals only, and the patient's attendants should not be asked to procure it from the retail market.

In April, the Centre had set cut-off thresholds for the use of Remdesivir. The drug can be used in moderate to severe patients within 10 days of symptom onset but not after that.

Alzheimer's drug panned by experts gets FDA nod

MEDICINE

WASHINGTON: US government health officials on Monday approved the first new drug for Alzheimer's disease in nearly 20 years, disregarding warnings from independent advisers that the much-debated treatment hasn't been shown to help slow the brain-destroying disease.

The Food and Drug Administration said it granted approval to the drug developed by Biogen for patients with Alzheimer's disease. It's the only drug that US regulators have said can likely treat the underlying disease, rather than manage symptoms like anxiety and insomnia.

The decision, which could impact millions of around the world, is certain to spark disagreements among physicians, medical researchers and patient groups. It also has far-reaching implications for the standards used to evaluate experimental therapies, including those that show only incremental benefits.

The new drug, which Biogen developed with Japan's Eisai Co., did not reverse mental decline, only slowing it in one study. Named Aduhelm, the medication is given as an infusion every four weeks.

The FDA's top drug regulator acknowledged in a statement that "residual uncertainties" surround the drug, but said Aduhelm's ability to reduce harmful clumps of plaque in the brain "is expected" to help slow dementia.

Under terms of the approval, the FDA is requiring the drugmaker to conduct a follow-up study to confirm benefits for patients. If the study fails to show effectiveness, the FDA could pull the drug from the market, though the agency rarely does so.

Biogen did not disclose the price, though analysts have estimated the drug could cost between $30,000 and $50,000 for a year's worth of treatment. A preliminary analysis by one group found that the drug would need to be priced $2,500 to $8,300 per year to be a good value based on the "small overall health gains" suggested by company studies. The non-profit Institute for Clinical and Economic Review added that "any price is too high" if the drug's benefit isn't confirmed in follow-up studies.

Nearly 6 million people in the U.S. and many more worldwide have Alzheimer's, which gradually attacks areas of the brain needed for memory, reasoning, communication and basic daily tasks.

Aducanumab helps clear a protein linked to Alzheimer's, called beta-amyloid, from the brain.

Jeff Bezos riding his own rocket in July, joining 1st crew in Blue Origin

SPACE

JEFF Bezos will ride his own rocket into space next month, joining the first crew to fly in a Blue Origin capsule.

The Amazon founder announced Monday he will launch July 20 from Texas along with his firefighter brother Mark. Also making the 10-minute up-and-down hop will be the highest bidder in a charity auction.

Bezos is stepping down as Amazon's CEO on July 5 — just 15 days before liftoff — to spend more time on his space company as well as his newspaper, The Washington Post. His stake in Amazon is currently worth $164 billion.

"To see the Earth from space, it changes you. It changes your relationship with this planet, with humanity. It's one Earth," Bezos, 57, said in an Instagram post. "I want to go on this flight because it's a thing I've wanted to do all my life. It's an adventure. It's a big deal for me."

Bezos said he invited his younger brother — his best friend — to share the journey and make it even more "meaningful."

The flight will officially kick off Blue Origin's space tourism business. The company has yet to start selling tickets to the public or even to announce a ticket price for the short trips, which provide about three minutes of weightlessness.

STARTUP WATCH

BACKSTORY

Aatma Pilates studio is a Bengaluru-based health startup founded by seasoned hospitality professional Ramya Naren in February 2021. The startup is designed to offer personalised pilate sessions in fitness and luxurious pampering for the individual.

FINANCE FUNDA

According to the founder, the startup was bootstrapped with an amount of ₹80 lakh

USP

Doing away with the usual pilate group sessions, the startup offers one-on-one training to individuals. The pilate sessions are dedicated for mobility and strength training, new moms, golfers, weight loss, postural corrections, which are carried out with equipment like cardillac, wunda chair, the ladder barrel etc.

TARGET AUDIENCE

The target audience is anybody above the age of 14 years. It is also designed for men and women across all fitness levels, including beginners. So far, 34 individuals have signed up for sessions.

A Bengaluru-theatre group has a game for you: How to revive the city's once thriving lakes through a mix of folklore, proceedings and strategic decisions

ATTEMPTING TO REGAIN PARADISE

SANATH PRASAD

ELIZABETH Maggie, the inventor of The Landlord's Game (now famous as Monopoly) would probably have been intrigued by the game 'Once There was a Lake'. She invented her game in the early 1900s to talk about land grab and its consequences in America, while the Bengalurean creators of 'Once There Was A Lake' aim to draw attention to how urbanisation has gobbled up the city's water bodies.

Bengaluru-based theatre group India Ensemble is organising a game of 'Once There was a Lake' online on June 12 at 5pm, for 30 players. Chanakya Vyas, the artistic director of Indian Ensemble, came up with the initiative to tell the story about the dire state of lakes in the city and the ways in which people can revive the beautiful water bodies that were once central to Bengaluru's landscape.

Vyas believes that although a stage performance could have been worked out, an artiste can present an issue to people in any creative format. "This is a participatory model that engages individual players with fictional and nameless neighbourhoods where once there was a lake. The players' objective is to revive the lake by making crucial decisions. While they are it, they also listen to audio tidbits about the neighbourhood's past and present," says Vyas.

A trial of the game at Kere Habba on February 16

The game was supposed to be played in a physical setup, but things got delayed due to the pandemic and they eventually decided to move things online.

"We did research and ground work between October and December 2019. Between January and March 2020, we conducted trial runs in academic institutions, corporate offices and social organisations. Then the pandemic hit. We have documented some facts from the ground about different lakes in Bengaluru which will be used in the game," says Vyas.

> Our months-long documentation of the stories behind these lakes will ensure the game is accessible, informative and comprehensive
> Chanakya Vyas, artistic director, Indian Ensemble

Case studies of Sarjapur Lake, Kalkere lake, Hulimavu Lake and others are incorporated in the game, to blend fictional and non-fictional accounts of the stories behind the lakes. Participants will also get to explore the legal challenges and judicial proceedings concerning some of these lakes along with a mix of fictional situations inspired from folklore, myths, anecdotes, oral histories, records and events surrounding lake revival processes in the city.

"Different lakes support different ecosystems, hence there are different stories. Our months-long documentation of the stories behind these lakes will ensure the game is accessible, informative and comprehensive for people to assess the severity of the conditions of water bodies in the city," says Vyas.

Once There Was A Lake is supported by grants from India Foundation for the Arts, under the Project 560 programme, and partly by Infosys Foundation.

Vaccine drive for Bengaluru's trans community

On Monday, the Rotary Club of Bangalore Cantonment, Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) and B.PAC organised a free Covid-19 vaccination drive for the city's trans-community. It was organised on the premises of the Rotary Club of Bangalore Cantonment near Coles Park, in Frazer Town. The campaign also saw the distribution of free ration kit for members of the transgender community between 10am and 2pm. Sampath, general secretary, Adarsha Auto and Taxi Drivers Union, B. PAC civic leader and social worker was also a part of the initiative.

For students, by a student

A 19-year-old student is running a platform where companies can find students for internships and vice versa

SANATH PRASAD

STUDENTS on the verge of joining the workforce have been in a zone of uncertainty for over a year as economic activity has been throttled by the rise and fall in Covid-19 infections. The resulting freeze on recruitment or worse, layoffs, has made internships hard to come by.

A year ago, Bengaluru student Ronak Parikh set up a business on Instagram to bridge this gap, and provide a platform for companies and students to find opportunities and reach out to each other. Parikh, who is 19 and is pursuing a degree in commerce, started the Instagram account YourWorkHour on which companies can post notices for internships.

Parikh says, "I started YourWorkHour for two reasons. I previously had a very chaotic experience with an internship provider. I did not get a stipend or certificates. Secondly, a lot of friends pinged me on social media asking about internship opportunities. That's when I thought I should be a messenger between startups and students, by providing verified internship leads," he says.

While students can access the page for free, startups have to pay a nominal fee to post a notice, says Parikh. "Students can apply for the internships by messaging their applications to me. Sometimes the startups ask me to shortlist the top five applications," says Parikh.

So far, 250 companies, mostly startups, have approached him. The companies are predominantly based in Bengaluru, while some are located in cities such as Mumbai, Chennai, and Hyderabad.

"Students from across the country apply since the pandemic has forced a lot of people to work from home. Companies reaching out to me are from sectors like hospitality, creative agencies, marketing companies, student housing companies, and event management," says Parikh.

A year on, Parikh plans to expand the services he offers. He wants to rope in startups which offer services like resume building and personality grooming which will help young people shore up their soft skills.

"Many students still lack in preparing a good resume and are also not aware of prerequisites before giving an interview. I have already zeroed in on certain startups, and I am planning to roll out this service soon," he says.

Parikh says he's in the business for the long haul. Last week he received an acquisition offer from a brand consulting firm in Bengaluru, and he expects to finalise the deal in the coming days.

UNUSUAL 'HANGOVER'

Celebrity fortune teller Sheelaa M Bajaj, who relocated to Dubai recently, celebrated her birthday on the desert land. Bajaj was flooded with wishes, leaving her 'hungover'. But this is a hangover of a different kind, she says with a chuckle. "It's not like the daaru type...it's just something from too many celebrations."

INSTITUTIONALISING INCLUSION

Acclaimed Bharatanatyam artiste Narthaki Nataraj named member of Tamil Nadu policy council

G ULAGANATHAN

BHARATANATYAM was considered to be the domain of a particular community in Tamil Nadu until legends like Rukmini Devi threw open the doors of Kalakshetra to young girls and boys belonging to different communities. Still, the fact remains that sabhas or the organisers of the dance festivals in Chennai continue to avoid giving prime time slots to these dancers.

It is in this scenario that dancers like Narthaki Nataraj have to swim against the tide and stay afloat. It has been a long struggle for her. She got her first national recognition with the Padma Shri in 2019. Now there is another feather in her cap. In a surprising announcement on Sunday, Chief Minister M K Stalin included her in the newly constituted Tamil Nadu State Development Policy Council (SDPC) which includes economists, professors and corporate honchos. She becomes the first transwoman on the council.

PIC: SRIVATSA SHANDILYA

"It is important to accept our similarities and differences – man, woman or third gender, we are all searching for a glimpse of divinity in everyday life," says Nataraj.

One of her favourite varnams in her performances have been 'Thiruve, Thirumagale, Thaaye' in Ragamalika. She composed it herself and it shows conventional gender equations by focusing on the female, rather than the male deity.

Nataraj refuses to talk about her childhood. Her early foray into dance began with an emotional search for happiness. "My only happy memories of childhood are of dancing secretly to cinema songs," she once said.

"My friend Sakthi Bhaskar and I have been together since we were five years old. Padmini and Vyjayanthimala were our role models. I am not sure whether I dreamt of dancing like them but I do remember that only when I danced did I feel free, beyond any limitations," she says.

On her journey in dance, Nataraj says, "No one wanted to listen to us, support us, or understand our struggles."

Nataraj and Bhaskar went to K P Kittappa Pillai – the doyen of the Thanjavur Bani – requesting him to teach them. But at first he refused. "We were so used to rejection by then that we took it in our stride. I thought we were rejected because of not fitting into the 'normal' gender identities. But he was only testing whether we had real passion for dance."

For over 14 years they trained with their "very rigorous teacher" who taught them the rare repertoire of Thanjavur quartet compositions.

"My basic question was, who am I? In literature, and in dance, this is an open question, unlike fixed gender stereotypes that form our social norms," she says.

She found the answer while delving deep into dance. "The Nayaki Bhava is a divine transgender state. The soul is neither male nor female, and travels through infinity. While watching me dance, the audience mistakes me to be a beautiful woman. While I may be playing a nayika or heroine, I am not only that. Being the third gender is also a spiritual identity," she says.

She strongly feels the third gender has been created specially for society and humanity. "We don't have any bond in this world since we cannot have progeny."

Nataraj, whose life is included as a lesson in the Class 11 Tamil text book of Tamil Nadu, is seen as a role model by the transgender community for having braved social ridicule and exclusion for the success and acceptance she achieved in the world of dance.

Now, a new role awaits her.

FIT BIT

PUNGU MAYURASANA

(WOUNDED PEACOCK POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'pungu' means wounded, 'mayura' means peacock and 'asana' means pose. As an advanced variation of Mayurasana (the two-handed version), it has many of the same benefits. In addition to requiring and improving physical balance, the pose stimulates mental and emotional balance, as well as mental focus and concentration. It activates the Manipura (solar plexus or navel) chakra, which is associated with decisiveness and self-esteem. An open Manipura has the power to transform, building motivation, self-control and a sense of purpose.

STEPS

- Sit in Vajrasana (Thunderbolt Pose). Then separate your knees and place the right hand in between the knees, fingers pointing outwards.
- Bring your knees back and place the left hand forward on the ground. Bend your right elbow and turn it inside and place it near the naval, the closer the better.
- While pressing your elbow against your stomach, straighten your knees, point your toes back, join the feet and stretch your hands forwards. (If your back gets rounded then it will be difficult to get into the posture).
- Keeping your body straight and tight try to shift your weight forward; as you lean forward your feet will come up (avoid jumping into the posture, because of the momentum you might lose balance).
- Try to remain in the posture for as long as possible.
- Come down and relax in Shashankasana (Hare Pose) for a few breaths.
- Repeat with the other hand.

BENEFITS

- Helps improve digestion.
- Helps cure dyspepsia and diseases of the stomach.
- The lungs and abdominal organs are toned and stimulated.
- The sluggishness of liver or hepatic torpidity disappears.
- Alleviates constipation.
- Strengthens the wrists and forearms, back torso and leg.

LIMITATIONS

- Those with back pain, who have undergone any surgery, have heart-related issues, blood pressure, issues related to abdominal organs, menstruating and pregnant women, seniors with arthritis should avoid.
- Those suffering from injuries to the wrist, elbow, shoulder, hips, lower back, neck, or rib cage, carpal tunnel syndrome, should not perform this pose.
- Practice under the guidance of a yoga teacher.

Online". "Vaanline". "Aaanline". Pronounce it whichever way you like, the word and its meaning is now universal. Our space has shrunk to the barest minimum, and yet we are taking in the world in all its glory, happiness, disgrace, disappointment, or whichever way you perceive it.

If you are connected the right way through any among the array of online meet platforms, you are there with the world - your choice, which part, who, or what, and the emotions that come or go with it.

Over the last one-and-a-half years - with a happy but brief interlude between the first and the second wave of the pandemic - I have been able to "meet" friends, relatives and colleagues from all over, that too in a jiffy. Blame it on the pandemic for being forced to remain indoors. But that has made our social temptations lead us through digital pathways, streets and highways to our "destinations". And there we are, suddenly "in the midst" of people you want to catch up with. Friendly meet-ups, work meetings, consultations, or even "just to say 'hi'"-type meets, you just reach out for your laptop or mobile phone, alert who (or who all) you are reaching out to, and connect.

That's all it takes, right?

Well, that's just the drill part of it. It has taken much more than what it takes to merely connect! It has taken away a part of our lives. We are connecting with people in our own neighbourhoods (even next door ones) through online modes, presenting ourselves as a component of the digital system at one end, and they at the other of it.

Last week at one such meet among friends, one of them who was to join alonefrom his place, came online even before he was ready. I noticed him combing his hair, buttoning up his shirt and then spraying some perfume.

"Why do you need that? Are you headed out somewhere? Or is someone coming home?" I asked him.

He froze mid-way, suddenly realising that he was already online and being watched by friends through six screens located at different points in the city and two elsewhere in the country.

"No-no ... just a force of habit ... getting ready for the meet..." he stammered, sheepishly.

The "force of habit" failed my dear friend in realising that none of his efforts to "smell nice" would have any pleasant effect on the olfactory cells in the nostrils of those spread far and wide and connected digitally.

That kind of technology has not yet been developed to make digital interactions so human that our bodies, and parts of it (nose, in this case), can actively participate. Or, even to feel the presence of each other being in the same room - something that can fulfil such interactions by mimicking personal interactions to the full.

What we are left with is disembodied interactions, truncated experiences. We "meet", we do interact, exchange pleasantries and experiences, debate or argue, or pull each other's legs like we would have had we met in person. And yet it's not complete.

Business anthropologist Simon Roberts brings this out impressively in his book, The Power Of Not Thinking, which stresses the importance of the role of the body and its parts with relation to the mind. Our bodies feel like sensors conveying to the mind to form impressions. But the digital onslaught is compromising that.

But neither you nor I can do anything about it in the pursuit of health and safety.

We continue to be there, but not actually quite there, and still okay with it!

CO-WORKING SPACE TO PROVIDE FREE VACCINATIONS FOR TEAM, CLIENTS

315Work Avenue, a co-working space provider, has announced that it will cover the Covid-19 vaccination cost for all of its clients and their team members. Commenting on the same, Manas Mehrotra, founder, said, "As we continue to navigate the pandemic, nothing is more important than the health and well-being of our clients and their teams. They are the most important part of our business along with our employees and covering their vaccination cost is a small way to express our gratitude to our clientele."

FIT, FAB AND FUN

My obesity did not allow me to have a good night's sleep. Even walking a few steps used to leave me breathless. I tried losing a few kilos before but it was inconsistent. The lockdown came as a boon in disguise

I'VE become a couch potato", "Netflix and pizza is the new way to spend Friday night", "Always in my pyjamas" – these are common social media posts floating around during this pandemic-induced lockdown. Staying at home has forced many to lead a sedentary lifestyle, with little physical activity and a whole lot of screen time. But a few Bengalureans are cashing in on the time at hand to turn their focus on being mentally and physically fit.

Perhaps the most drastic transformation is that of 33-year-old Nivedith Gajapathy, who weighed 127 kg in January 2020. "Even walking a few steps used to leave me breathless," says the travel blogger. His mission to lose weight began after he participated in a 5-km health run, which took him two hours to finish. "The lockdown came as a boon in disguise, allowing me to cut junk food and carbs," says Gajapathy, who now weighs 69 kg. "Walking indoors helped me reduce weight to a great extent," he adds.

After a ligament injury, Sonia Parvin Bose knew it was mainly because she was overweight. Last year, she started following the Keto diet, a low-carb plan to lose weight. "I was 84 kg and lost a few kilos with this diet. However, I did not feel fit. Then I hired an online personal trainer and started exercising regularly. I eat what I love, focus on exercising and maintaining my weight, which, after a year, stands at 68 kg," says Bose, adding that with minimum equipment like dumbbells and resistance bands, her entire weight-loss journey happened at home.

Taking 6-7 online classes during the lockdown was easy for Jackson Arokiaraj, a professional fitness trainer. "In the beginning, people were hesitant towards this method but I guided them. I suggest using a small space at home and a mat for functional training, animal flow workout and free body movement that do not require any equipment. I chalk out personalised meal plans. I make sure the diet and training is sustainable in the long run," he says.

Chaitali Pishay Roy, a media professional in her 30s and Arokiaraj's client, says there is no shame in letting your trainer know about your period. "Communication is aimportant as it helps him understand your body fitness and guide you accordingly. Arokiaraj suggests light exercises during my period. I have had significant inch-loss in almost a year. I became stronger and leaner, and have also mastered handstand," says Roy, who has also started training her mothe.

"My daughter gives me a combination of cardio, functional training, weight training and yoga as it is important for me to do everything. I go for walks with our dog on days that we don't train. My goal is to drop some inches and become fitter by December 2021," says 58-year-old Kavita Pishay, who believes that the mindset, and not age, hinders your fitness routine.

A popular WhatsApp forward paraphrases from the book, The Top Five Regrets of the Dying, written by Bronnie Ware, an Australian nurse who spent a dozen years working in a hospice providing palliative care for people who had barely weeks to live, and had taken the trouble to sit with them and help them talk through the lives they had led and what regrets they carried from all their time when they were hale and hearty. The top three of the original five from this nurse's book were, "I wish I'd had the courage to live a life true to myself, not the life others expected of me," "I wish I hadn't worked so hard," and, "I wish I'd had the courage to express my feelings."

The last two were, "I wish I had stayed in touch with my friends," and, "I wish that I had let myself be happier," and, of course, true to what the internet allows one to do, you probably have seen different top fives, based on the motives of the person forwarding such messages to you. One has seen lists containing, "I wish I had played more," to, "I wish I had prayed more," and there are top tens, top twenties and what not as well, as if this were a countdown of the biggest music tracks of the year.

LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan

When people talked about their regret of, "I wish I hadn't worked so hard," they were really talking about wishing they had spent more time with people they loved, enjoying being a parent, spending more time playing and just loving life a whole lot better than they did. They weren't really talking about just slacking off and watching Netflix, but wishing they had spent more time with people and spaces where they could feel love.

Thing is, we don't really need to be on our deathbeds facing imminent death to feel these regrets. The idea of death is enough, rather than death itself. As we sit here in June of 2021, hopefully at the tail-end of the brutal second wave, many of us having come close to death or having seen loved ones pass on unexpectedly, we have had closer contact with the idea of death than we would normally have had. This wave has upended any illusions we might have had on there being lots of time for us to figure out things, and let life unfurl as it will, acting as if we were in the audience. We felt the cold touch of death. We felt the warm tears.

The question is: Was this close enough for us to connect with our regrets in our lives thus far? Do you find yourself looking at the days ahead with a sense of getting a second chance, as if you had hit the ball on a cricket pitch and watched it sail into the fielder's hands with horror, only to then see the umpire signal a no-ball?

Can you take this chance to love life more fully?

Here's the secret to writing one great song

MY songwriting professor once told me, "The secret to writing ONE great song? Write a thousand bad ones." While that may sound like a punch line more than solid advice, there's a lot to be said about working through the songwriting process before you hit your steady stride.

I get asked all the time what the "best" way to write a song is, and the truth is, I don't think there is ONE best way. Different artistes swear by different methods, but many great songwriters can write in multiple ways.

HERE ARE SOME WAYS TO GET STARTED

TUNING IN
Bindu & Ambi Subramaniam

1. Write over a chord progression - If you're familiar with how to play chords on the piano or the guitar, play something and see what you come up with. If you need a starting point, that's what YouTube is for. Look up popular chord progressions (the most common chord progression in popular music is I-V-vi-IV, you're welcome), and play through them. If you aren't comfortable on an instrument, you can find karaoke chord progressions and try humming over them and see what you come up with.

2. Write a melody first - If you're the sort of person who can come up with melodies first, or find a catchy hook line, this is a great way to start a song. Sing your melody a few times, refine it, and use it as a starting point for your song.

3. Write lyrics first - Lyrics give the listener the story of the song, and can also be a great place to start. If you have a great idea, or a cool story to tell, start with lyrics first.

4. Find a production vibe - In current popular music, much of it is production-driven. Even if you don't play an instrument, you can try finding the sound you want using loops on GarageBand, logic or any other music production software.

5. Take inspiration - If you're not sure where to start, start with a song that you really like, and break it down. Try to understand all the different parts. Pick one part that you like - the chords for example. Play the chord progression and come up with a new melody. Or if you like the drum beat, try to see what you can come up with on top of that. If you're starting out, this is a great way to learn. After you've written a song around the part that inspired you, change that part to something new, and you have a completely original song.

The most important thing about songwriting is being open. It's often hard to share what you've created because you are scared of being judged. Find a circle you trust, and share with them first, then with the world around you. Trust the process, and don't read all the Instagram comments.

'IT'S NOW A QUESTION OF SURVIVAL FOR PRODUCERS'

...SAYS SHIVARAJKUMAR ABOUT FILMS TAKING THE OTT ROUTE, ALTHOUGH HE HOPES THEATRES WILL REOPEN SOON

A SHARADHAA

BIG INTERVIEW

SHIVARAJKUMAR, the Hat-trick hero of the Kannada industry has, like several others, stayed put during this lockdown. The Century Star has been providing Covid relief, distributing food kits, and feeding over 500 people every day through his initiative Aasare, and will continue this initiative until the lockdown is lifted. In addition, the actor has also made a contribution to workers of the film unit who have been hit by the pandemic. "It is important to make sure they are fed. Food is the need of the hour," he says.

With the slowdown of Covid cases in Karnataka, Shivarajkumar sees a ray of hope in things improving in the next 10 days. He hopes that this will translate into the film industry getting back to work. "Producers of my films as well as other producers are in constant touch with me over phone. With the government planning to unlock the state in the next few days, plans are on to slowly re-open entertainment activities. Opening of theatres will help sustain the industry," says Shivanna, who also stresses the importance of everyone in the film industry getting their jab."In the early part of the year, things were getting back to normal, but the unprecedented second wave has hit the industry badly. I hope everything gets better and there is a sense of confidence that the industry will return to normalcy," he adds.

One of the busiest actors in Sandalwood, Shivanna has been awaiting the release of Bhajarangi 2, and was shooting for Vijay Milton's project which is in the last leg of shooting. Meanwhile, the actor plans to start his next project with director Ram Dhulipudi. The 125th project will have Shivanna associating with A Harsha and is titled Vedha. He has also given a green signal to director Nanda Kishore for his project. "There is no option left now but to speed up," he says.

Shivanna, who feels theatre reopening is important, also opines that OTT platforms are the next best option. "We have to look at the OTT route too, mainly because it is a question of producers' survival. It also depends on the kind of projects coming up. I have been noticing big-star films coming on various streaming channels. It is not a bad idea. We have to wait and watch," he says. So is the rumour about his upcoming film Bhajarangi 2, directed by Harsha under Jayanna Combines, taking the OTT route, true? "Nothing is planned as yet," he says.

Lopamudra Raut

The writer-director of this yet-to-be-titled project will be playing the lead as well; filmmaker has approached model-turned-actor Lopamudra Raut to play the heroine

Hemant Hegde ready to direct rollicking comedy-drama

CE FEATURES

A COMIC caper is what's coming next from the director of House Full and Nimbehulli. And Hemant Hegde says this will be a rip-roaring family entertainer on a social menace. Three NRIs are jointly producing the film and will be made under the Anvita Arts banner. The director, who is currently preparing for this yet-to-be-titled project, has set the entire story in the Malnad region. The filmmaker plans to make an official announcement on June 23, when he will reveal further details.

In addition to writing the story and taking up directorial responsibilities, Hemant will also be playing the lead in this comedy-drama, which comprises Padmaja Rao, Ramesh Bhat and Sharat Lohitshwara in the cast. Meanwhile, Hemant, who is scouting for the female lead, has approached model-turned-heroine Lopamudra Raut. A former Bigg Boss contestant, she has also been part of reality show Khatron Ke Khiladi, and is currently working on a webseries. "Lopamudra associated with me for my Hindi directorial, Blood Story, which was halfway through shooting. We could not complete it. I am looking forward to having her on board, but it depends on her current commitment with the webseries," says Hemant.

The director is in the process of finalising the technicians, but we're told Krishna Bhanjan from Mumbai will be making his debut as a DoP in this film. "Krishna Bhanjan is a Kannadiga settled in Mumbai. He has mostly done ad shoots, so this will be his first stint in film cinematography," he says.

Evil Dead Rise goes on floors in New Zealand

CE FEATURES

Sam Raimi's Evil Dead series is perhaps the most influential horror films of all time. The director announced that a new film in the series is in development back in 2019 couldn't take off due to the pandemic. However, now, the film has gone on floors in New Zealand.

Evil Dead Rise, will be directed by Lee Cronin, who is known for his debut The Hole In The Ground (2019).

The LGBTQIA+ community deserves our unanimous support: Kubbra Sait

CE FEATURES

Actor Kubbra Sait has curated an interactive online session called LGBTQIA+ For Dummies, wherein she interviews four prominent members from the community.

Sait asks them two questions, namely: What is the most frequent question people ask you? And: What's the question that you wish people asked you.

The sessions went live on her social media on June 5 with her debut guest, award-winning director Onir.

Speaking on how she came up with this concept, Kubbra said, "The love we received from the community has always overwhelmed me and left me at a loss of words. The thought behind this concept was to normalise the fact that I'm a dummy when it comes to know more about the community. I often make mistakes with pronouns. I also unintentionally make mistakes by making a comment which is not correct or doesn't fit with the guidelines of the community."

Kubra also spoke about homophobia and its persistence in society. "I think homophobia is a state of mind," she said. "It is a conditioning. The films in the 1990s or even the early 2000s used to have a gay joke thrown in just for the sake of laughs, I don't think that was okay. We need to develop a tune in our minds against discrimination when it comes to how we talk to and about the queer community. I'll correct somebody if they don't fully understand the concept or make an initiative where I actually reach out to people."

The sessions will also see Durga Gawde, Luna and Sushant Divgikr in the month of June, which is also known as Pride Month.

Christina Ricci

Christina Ricci to star in The Matrix 4

CE FEATURES

Actor Christina Ricci, best-known for her roles in American films such as Sleepy Hollow and Monster is set to star in The Matrix 4. The film marks her second collaboration with filmmaker, Lana Wachowski after the 2008 film Speed Racer.

Led by Keanu Reeves, who will be reprising his iconic role of Neo, The Matrix 4, also marks the return of Carrie-Anne Moss, who played Trinity in the original trilogy, and Jada Pinkett Smith's Niobe. New additions to the cast include Yahya Abdul-Mateen II, Priyanka Chopra Jonas, Jonathan Groff, and Neil Patrick Harris, to name a few. Plot details related to the highly anticipated sci-fi film are currently kept under tight wraps.

The fourth instalment of the franchise has been written by Lana Wachowski, David Mitchell, and Aleksander Hemon, with Wachowski co-producing the film with Grant Hill and James McTeigue. The Matrix 4 is scheduled to release on December 22 this year. On the acting front, Ricci was last seen in Percy alongside Christopher Walken, and is also set to appear in the upcoming supernatural drama Monstrous.

Chrissy Teigen exits Netflix's Never Have I Ever amid cyber-bullying controversy

Chrissy Teigen

CE FEATURES

Actor Chrissy Teigen has exited Netflix's Never Have I Ever amidst the online bullying controversy. Last month, model and reality TV personality Courtney Stodden had accused Teigen of cyberbullying.

Teigen was added to the cast for a planned voice role in the first episode of the upcoming season 2. Mindy Kaling's coming-of-age series revolves around a first-generation Indian American teenage girl, who navigates high school life while dealing with the loss of her father. The series also features voice-over narration for guest roles.

In an interview with Daily Beast, Stodden accused Teigen of harassing her a decade ago when she married actor Doug Hutchison. Reports state that Teigen sent direct messages to Stodden and Hutchison. On May 12, Teigen took to Twitter to publicly apologize to Stodden and to call herself accountable.

"Not a lot of people are lucky enough to be held accountable for all their past bulls — in front of the entire world. I'm mortified and sad at who I used to be. I was an insecure, attention-seeking troll," Teigen wrote in the post. Universal Television's Never Have I Ever is created by Mindy Kaling with Lang Fisher, who is executive producer and showrunner. Kaling also executive produces with 3 Arts Entertainment's Howard Klein and David Miner.
